Criticizes Slowness in Public Works Program

In an explanation of the lack of federal money for Illinois public works, the office of the Secretary of the Interior issued a statement recently to the effect that the Illinois highway department is slow in submitting a program to the federal aid highway system department. Governor Horner vigorously denied the accusation in a telegram to Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

Secretary Ickes answered Governor Horner's telegram with this message: "Governor Henry Horner: There was allotted to your state June 23, 1933, $17,570,770 for road construction. The public works administration wishes this money to be in action for recovery quickly and it is noticed that on October 5 only nine projects of all classes estimated to cost $308,000 have been approved for your state. I direct your attention to the increasing lapse of time between the approval of highway projects and the placing of these projects under actual construction.

"While nationally 2160 highway projects have been approved contracts have been awarded in only 1329 cases in 737 instances, the basis of these figures it would be possible through out the nation to have from one highway projects under actual construction. Will you advise me what you can do to expedite the improvement work so that men can be put to work as soon as possible? If there is anything I can do to assist please advise me. (Signed) H. L. Ickes."

The Gate of Tears

The phrase is a translation of the Arabic Bab-el-Mandeb, which is the name of the strait between Africa and Arabia connecting the Red sea and the Indian ocean. It is so named because of the large number of shipwrecks which have occurred in the difficult passage. As there is a legend that thousands perished in an earthquake which centuries ago opened the strait and let the seas through.

Parent-Teacher Assn. Hold Discussion Groups on Early Grade Problems

Dividing the audience into groups, members of the local Parent-Teacher association led discussions relative to children of various ages, from the kindergarten through high school, at the October meeting of the club, held in Barrington high school Monday evening.

Mrs. R. F. Keeling, as leader of the group, presented an article "Turning Children into Boys and Girls," and the parents and teachers entered a lively discussion concerning preschool age children and kindergartners.

Mrs. R. L. Mundhenk read a paper, "Why the P.-T. A." to the group and after a discussion of that subject, the group considered the subject of taxpayers, responsibility and allowance.

The third group, with Mrs. R. G. Pierce as leader, had as their subject "Adolescence." The group with Mrs. H. P. Castle as chairman took up social activities, the welfare of high school pupils and their leisure time.

At the general club assembly preceding the smaller conferences, Mrs. Wm. Lawrence gave a report of the annual convention of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. R. F. Keeling reported Dr. Gordon Laird's address at the 21st district conference held in Wilmette this month; and Mrs. H. Koenig summarized a round table discussion of membership held at the same conference.

Compliment. Barrington in Speaches Made at Teachers' Institute

A successful institute, with 275 principals and 65 rural school teachers, was held at the Barrington school all day Friday, according to Supt. Erman S. Smith who arranged the program and issued invitations to teachers of rural schools in this vicinity and to the principals. The early morning hours were devoted to visits to Barrington classrooms after which Miss Nellie MacMahon, Cook county director of education, led a group discussion in the study hall.

Miss MacMahon stressed the need of good housekeeping in connection with teaching rural schools and complimented Barrington on the excellent condition of its school; she also praised the reading tables of the junior high school and high school, saying they exemplified a high type of reading in the homes since the school children bring books and magazines from their homes for both tables. The reading matter to be found there was commendable, said Miss MacMahon.

Otto F. Aken, Cook county superintendent, met with the principals at 10:30 a. m. to explain the work of building banks. He was accompanied by a certified accountant who answered questions regarding methods of promoting financial standings.

The afternoon program included reading by Betsy Bell, Vernel Jeppson and Harold Collins; songs by Blanche Pryor; music by the Barrington high school orchestra in its first public appearance under the direction of W. N. Sears. Supt. Aken and Supt. Smith addressed the assembly and J. H. Prost, landscape architect, talked on methods of beautifying school grounds.

Wagon Rack Disappears

Lou Tyason has been searching for a specially built wagon rack which a stranger called for and drove off with Saturday morning.

The stranger gave the name of Ziegler to Mrs. Tyason and he was calling for a box which Mr. Tyason had borrowed from Morris McGill some time ago. Instead of taking Mr. McGill's rack, he helped himself to Mr. Tyason's property, the latter said.

Mr. McGill reported that his rack had been on the Kirschner farm when he moved there. This "Mr. Ziegler" called for it and claimed it Saturday, saying he was formerly a tenant on the place. Mr. McGill directed him to the Tyason home in Barrington. Now neither Mr. McGill nor Mr. Tyason can find any trace of Mr. Ziegler.
