COLLEGE DAY IS SCHEDULED FOR DECEMBER 10

52 SCHOOLS TO BE REPRESENTED

An opportunity for juniors and seniors to gain information regarding attendance at colleges and universities will be offered on College Day, Friday, December 10. Students may interview representatives from any of the 52 institutions of higher learning that are expected to attend.

Parents of B. H. S. students are cordially invited to attend College Day to discuss college plans with the representatives.

Counseling for members of the senior class will begin in the gymnasium at 12:30 and will be continued until 2 p.m. The juniors will then be excused from their classes to interview the representatives.

Visiting seniors from the Northwest Conference schools are expected to arrive at 1:15 p.m. Northbrook, Antioch, Ela, Palatine, Wauconda, Grant, and Bensenville will be represented.

Members of the student council will act as guides for the visitors. Between 250 and 300 visitors are anticipated.

A list of the attending schools appear on page 6.

The Vergil class and Mrs. Baker attended the Wednesday matinee performance of Medea. In the group were Kit Lasch, Barbara Schauble, Don Miller, Belle Gorman, and Jim Frey.

CHRISTMAS DANCE DECEMBER 18

Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, lend me your ears--that is, if you haven't heard anything about the biggest dance of the year. Of course, it's the G.A.A.'s annual Christmas dance, this year called THE TINSEL BALL. Now, to give you some general information about this colossal dance and some hints on how to remember it--

It will be held in the high school gymnasium. JUST REMEMBER--all big dances take place there.

Our own school band will furnish the heavenly music to dance by. G. A. A. is donating money so that the band can purchase new pieces to play for the occasion. JUST REMEMBER--they're the best around.

The hour for THE TINSEL BALL to begin is exactly 8:30 p.m. JUST REMEMBER--all big dances have begun at that time.

The date to circle on your calendar is December 18. JUST REMEMBER--it's precisely seven days before Christmas!

Yes, the time for the most important dance of the year is soon to arrive; so, fellas, if you want that special one to go with you, you'd better get on the ball and ask her to THE TINSEL BALL.

SENIOR BAKE SALE SATURDAY

Next Saturday, December 4, will offer a wonderful opportunity to purchase home made cakes and pastries. The money earned by the seniors, sponsors of the bake sale, will help them pay for a part of their class trip.

It is hoped that every senior, if possible, will bring at least two cakes. Donations from those outside the senior class will be greatly welcome, and everyone desirous of buying home made pastries is requested

SENIOR PARENTS TO MEET WITH SENIORS TUESDAY EVENING

Invitations have been sent to all the senior class parents, asking them to meet with the seniors next Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. for a joint class and parent night to discuss the senior class (Cont. on page 2, col. 2) to come to the sale.

The sale will be held in Legion Hall, which is directly above Hornsby's Dime-store. Don't hesitate to tell your mothers to come to the senior bake sale on the morning and afternoon of December 4.

R.I.D.C. AND D.S. PLANS DEBATE

The Monday group of the discussion club spent its meeting this week preparing for the debate which will be held December 10. The subject of the debate is "Resolved: That the U.N. should be replaced with a federated world government."

The group is divided into two teams, affirmative and negative, which will meet the opposite teams from the Friday club.

After Barbara Schauble, the moderator, had outlined the topic, the two groups met separately to plan their strategy.

BOTTOMLEY HOOCH SPEAKS

It is not unnatural for the members of a class to look up to an advanced class for leadership and personality. In this there is no harm if they don't disparage their own class.

Each class some day embarks upon the fourth step of the high school ladder and lo! there are no examples to follow; none of last year's idols can be seen sauntering down the halls. Every new senior class survives that shock and molds its last year into successful shape.

However, a few may sometimes be found who spurn the thought of deeming their class praiseworthy. These characters, bored with the activities and people in their class, always gain the least from their school career. Boredom, it seems to me, never gains an individual anything but disgust from others. Parasitical dependence on older students for leadership and fun is a great danger point and should be ejected before the senior year.

The familiar cliché, "My country good or bad," might be applied to each class. It is fruitless to fret over the qualities one's class lacks. A cooperative, enthusiastic spirit can be developed if each member casts off his attitude of disinterest and surveys more closely the good qualities and possibilities of his class.

SENIOR PARENTS TO MEET WITH SENIORS TUESDAY NIGHT

Mr. Thomas is going to talk on the general plans for the trip. While Mr. Smiley shows slides about last year's trip, Giles Mellon and Janet Volz will explain them. Bill Anderes, Dick Puffer, Sue Shepard, Glenn Wolthausen, and Betty Piltz will give short talks on why they want to go on the trip.

This trip really is an enormous project, as each senior class will in later years realize. This trip needs three-way co-operation between the school, the class, and the parents.

BRONCHOS BEAT GRANT

The Barrington Bronchos opened their conference schedule November 24 on a victory note, with a 40-29 win over Grant. After a slow start the boys increased their momentum, leading 11-7 at the end of the first quarter and increasing it to 20-14 at the half.

At the start of the second half, a fired-up team of Grant cagers put on a determined rally, but at the end of the third quarter Barrington still had a 24-21 lead. The fourth quarter saw a brilliant Broncho scoring splurge, and when the smoke had cleared, there it was, 40-29.

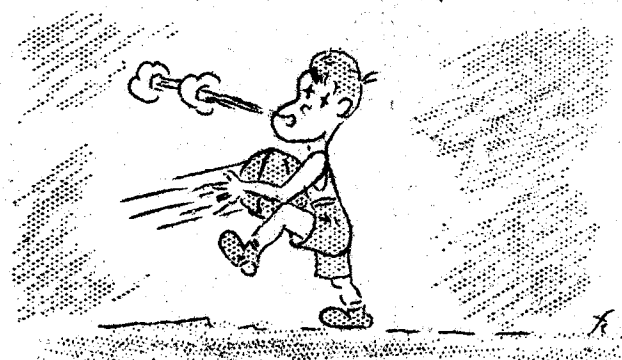

Jeppsen, Shuett, and Armanetti each made seven points to share scoring honors, Richardson of Grant led his team with nine points.

BRONCHOS FACE NORTHBROOK AND ANTIOCH OVER THE WEEK END

Friday and Saturday nights the Barrington Bronchos and Ponies will continue their quest for the Northwest Conference Championship. They will play Northbrook on Friday and Antioch on Saturday.

Last year the Bronchos almost met disaster at Northbrook. They won by a very few points; this year the Vikings will be seeking revenge for that game, as well as their football defeat. The game will be played at Northbrook.

Barrington will oppose Antioch in the first home conference game of the season. Antioch, as Northbrook, provided tough competition last year. They, too, are going to be trying for a revenge.

BRONCHOS OUTLAST LAKE FOREST, 32-25

The Bronchos last Friday night engaged the Lake Forest Little Giants and came off the floor with a well earned 32-25 victory. The game, with 39 personal fouls, was hard fought all the way, with one Broncho fouling out and two others collecting four fouls each, while three Lake Forest men picked up four fouls apiece.

The Bronchos jumped off to an 8-3 lead at the quarter, but by the half time Lake Forest had rallied to hold a 15-11 advantage. Only the failure to make shots kept the score down so low.

Play was very close during the third quarter, with each team trying unsuccessfully to pile up a safe margin. The third period ended 20-20, a Mexican standoff. However, in the last quarter the Bronchos became inspired and picked up twelve points to Lake Forest's 5 to take the game by a 32-25 count.

The Barrington boys missed a number of set shots, but this can be cured with a little more practice.

Something could be said about the sportsmanship shown on the part of the Barrington fans. The two referees in this game were the two best available. The situation was so bad at one point of the (Cont. on page 4, col.2)

PONIES EDGE GRANT, 31-27

Wednesday, November 24, the Ponies were "granted" a 31-27 victory by the accommodating Grant team. The Ponies were considerably improved compared with their debut; ball-handling and rebounding were noticeably better. However, there is still room for improvement. There also seems to be need for better execution of plays, particularly under the basket.

This game was the first of the conference season and was opened in the right way. Barrington held the lead throughout the main portion of the game.

Leading the scoring attack for Grant were Payton and Brand, each sinking 4 goals.

Truax and Schwemm were the pace setters for Barrington, racking up 10 and 8 points, respectively.

NORTHBROOK SENIORS INTERESTED IN "CORRAL" PROCEDURE

Yesterday afternoon five Northbrook seniors visited Barrington from 2:30 to 4 p.m. to gain first-hand information about the Corral.

Since Northbrook this year is changing printers and the general plan of its yearbook, the five seniors were very much interested in learning about the procedure followed in publishing the Corral. The student photographer was in the group, and though he uses a very small camera and must enlarge the pictures considerably, Mr. Smiley reports that he has done some good work.

LAKE FOREST WHIPS PONIES, 30-20

The Ponies looked bad losing to Lake Forest Friday night. Both teams seemed evenly matched until the fourth quarter when Lake Forest soared ahead.

A little more polish on ball handling, better accuracy on short shots, and less fouling would have helped the Ponies considerably. Their defensive play was noticeably lacking, accounting for the fact that a third of Lake Forest's points were made on free throws. However, the visitors had a height advantage, which might have been the reason. The losers lost most of their height when Beckhart and Truax fouled out.

Scoring for the Ponies was as follows: Smith, 5; Truax, 3; Beckhart, 4; Andrae, 2; Schwemm, 4; Heckmiller, 2.

game that a Barrington player had to look up to the crowd and signal them to become quiet.

It must be remembered by the fans that the game of basketball is getting faster and more complicated every season. Many capable referees are quitting each year because the pressure is so great. Although the referees did look bad on several occasions, we must remember at all times that these two men are making decisions to the best of their ability. The fans must try to understand this fact at all times.

HAROLD FOREMAN VOTED MOST VALUABLE PLAYER; JOHN HANSEN, HONORARY CAPTAIN AND ALL-SUBURBAN

Harold Foreman, by vote of the team members, the coaches, and several fans among the townspeople, was elected most valuable player of the 1948 Northwest Conference football championship team. His name will be engraved on a trophy donated by the Lions Club, similar to the one presented for the basketball team last year.

John Hansen was chosen honorary captain for the 1948 season by the football team. John, in addition, was a unanimous choice of the Northwest Conference coaches as the league's representative on the Herald American's all-suburban team. This honor ranks him with such backfield stars as Hoag of Oak Park, Schuldt of Dundee, and Robinson of Arlington Heights.

MASQUE AND WIG NEWS

CHILDREN'S PLAY CONSIDERED FOR SPRING PROGRAM

It has been decided that the Masque and Wig will travel into Chicago on December 15 to see "Medea."

The suggestion has been made to discontinue the three one-act plays given in the spring. Instead of having three plays the club may put on a children's play. Most of the members seem to be in favor of this idea.

Masque and Wig has gained two new members. Donna Black and Carol McCoy were initiated at the last meeting. Donna gave a woman's lengthy telephone conversation, and Carol gave "The Raven" by Poe.

Yesterday "Murder in the Family" was presented with Peter Fisher directing. "Murder in the Family" is the first of a series of non-royalty one-act plays to be given during the activity period.

The cast was as follows:

Abigail-----Jane Brintlinger
Olive Parnell-----Alyce Tilley
Jennie-----Joanne Barnes
Gloria-----Dorothy Griffin

JANET PARMALEE SHOWS GREATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT

Shattering the four-year beginning typing record, Janet Parmalee on November 22 typed 43.6 words a minute with 2 errors, thereby winning the 40-word Gregg Certificate after three months' typewriting experience. This record surpasses the creditable achievement of Robert Strodel and Barbara Schauble, two of last year's beginning typists, who won the 30-word Gregg Certificate during October, 1947, by typing at 30.4 and 29.9 words a minute, respectively. Gregg awards are limited to those typists who attain the prescribed net speeds on the monthly ten-minute Gregg Competent Typist Test. Typists must have not more than five errors to qualify for awards.

Beginning typists Helen Piffner, with 32.1 words and 4 error, Beverly Olsen, with 31.2 words and 2 errors, and Bri Anderson, with 30 words and 5 errors, distinguished themselves by achieving the 30-word Gregg Certificate during the month of November.

First-year personal typist Betty Piltz won her 40-word Gregg Certificate by typing at the really meritorious rate of 46.3 words a minute with 2 errors. Personal typist Dinnie Anderson distinguished himself by typing at 33.1 words with 3 errors to win his 30-word Gregg Certificate.

During October second-year typists Jessie Witchie, 51.4 words with 4 errors, and Dolores Walter, 51.7 words with 2 errors, forged forward to win 50-word gold Gregg Competent Typist Pins, thus challenging the typing ascendancy of Margaret Whittenberg and Betty Catlow, who won their gold pins in September. Typists Joanne Meenan, with 47.9 words and 5 errors, and Marillyn Meyer, with 46.8 words and 4 errors, won their 40-word Gregg Certificates and became aggressive contenders for the gold pin award.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club held its meeting this week with a very full program. First, plans were completed for the assembly to be given in February. Following this discussion, another act of the play, "Don Quixote," was read.

Then the urgent business of concessions for the Antioch game Saturday night was taken up. Those people who were interested in serving on committees volunteered. David Hansen is acting as chairman of the project.

The meeting was ended with the singing of Christmas carols in Spanish.

MASQUE AND WIG NEWS

The actors did as well as could be expected considering the time spent on the production. The way some parts were interpreted showed a misunderstanding of lines or that the part was not suited to the person. Many times there was a tendency to drop character, which could have been due to the lack of memorizing lines. It must be considered, though, that most of the members of the cast were inexperienced. The audience certainly could have shown more respect towards the performance of the players.

ANNE DISNEY HAS HER TRIALS

The following seems almost too exaggerated to be true, but thus it was written by Anne herself to Bill Trankle.

Anne is a freshman at Cornell College.

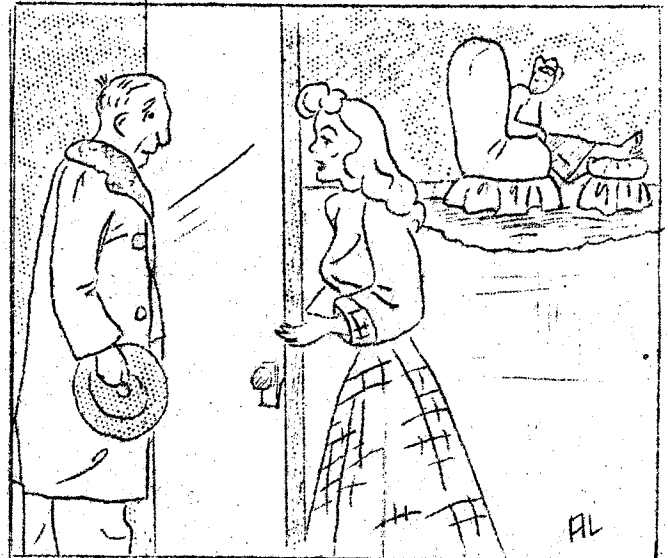

"Last Tuesday night our dormitory was asked to eat over at Cowles, which is the boys' dining room, because of a special faculty dinner in our dining room. Bobby Ellis, who lives in Evanston and has become a swell friend, and I decided to go together. Well, the dinner is served at six-fifteen, and we left our dorm at sixteen. We just made it!

The tables are set in long rows, with a small aisle between every two tables. I was serving the dinner, which was liver (ugh), spinach, and potatoes. There were all girls at our table; the table next to us was all men. I finished serving and started cutting my liver, and the whole piece flew across the aisle and hit this guy sitting on the opposite side. I have never been so embarrassed—but there is more to come. I went to pour some milk a little later, missed the glass and poured it down the middle of the table. I could have just died.

Then the waiters started clearing the plates for dessert. One picked up my plate—it slipped and landed in my lap, and there I sat with liver and silverware on my gray skirt. Of course everyone, including your maroon-colored sister, laughed.

Then they started serving the dessert, which was ice cream in saucers; the stuff had been standing for some time and consequently was a bit soupy. The waiter set the dish down very hard in front of me, and the mush splashed all down the front of my sweater. I mopped the junk up and saw from the corner of my eye this waiter headed in our direction with a whole tray of ice cream. I didn't even have time to duck. Before I could move, the tray was plopped right in front of me—coffee was spilled and running down my legs. You have never in your whole life seen anything so funny. I had ice cream in my hair, even.

Well, I stood up and shook a scoop off

I'm sorry, Rotifer, but I can't leave Mother. She got her arm caught in the dishwasher, and now she's in bed.

my left shoulder and started to mop. By this time I was a mixture of red and purple. Then—from across four hundred heads came a "Yea, rah, Disney!" Of course everyone was watching me mop, and the cheer my dear, dear friends sent me just re-convulsed them. I have never before felt so totally lost. What a dinner!

FRESHMAN SPEECH CLUB

The meeting of the Freshman Speech Club on November 24 was spent acting out interviews. Two members would act out an interview, and then the club would decide whether it was correct or incorrect. Jerry Laine and Bob Follath gave the correct procedure to follow when giving an interview. Next Jim O'Brien and Tom Stone gave an incorrect interview. Duncan Aspinwall, Nancy Armstrong, and Bruce Anderberg gave an incorrect telephone order to a grocery store, which proved quite amusing. Marilyn Sorce and Jo Ann Sittig then gave a correct telephone order. At the close of the period Ann Bell and Edith Haffner gave a bad interview, which was well prepared.

Yesterday the meeting was spent in reading and acting "Ten Minutes by the Clock."

The club will give its annual assembly on January 6.

KAROUSING KID

Now that we have finally digested all that turkey, we've settled down once more to the daily grind of school—until Christmas, that is. Speaking of Christmas, we certainly get that festive spirit shoved down our throats early, don't we? Christmas decorations were up in the city weeks before Thanksgiving. We'll probably see Easter baskets in the stores December 27.

In case you have a thirsty crowd over some night during the coming holidays, here's a recipe for one of Bri Anderson's favorite drinks:

- 1 bottle of coke
- 1 teaspoon French dressing
- 1 teaspoon pickle juice
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- dash cinnamon

Bri adds that it tastes best when you drink it blindfolded and are tied to a chair.

In biology the other day Alyce Tilley was making a report on man, the most advanced specie of the animal kingdom. According to her, man is the animal most dear to our hearts. I think she referred to her heart, don't you, John?

Most students in school are well acquainted with the charms of Sarah (Sukey) Mee. However, no one is so familiar with them as her devoted Irish setter, who followed her all the way from her house to the railroad station last Saturday. The dog would have boarded the 8:35 with her if some kind man hadn't been willing to take the dog home just before the train pulled out.

Marilynn Patterson lived through an embarrassing experience on the train coming back from a symphony concert last Wednesday night. The car was so crowded she had no choice but to sit in a seat from behind which emanated odors from the breath of—dare I say it?—a thoroughly intoxicated man. That in itself wasn't bad, until he started insisting that she and the young man sitting beside her hold hands. What a relief it was when the man staggered off at Norwood Park. In case you ever see Marilyn standing on a train when there's an empty seat, you'll know why.

You boys also should know why it's

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK

Marilynn Patterson was born April 20, 1930. She has dark brown hair, dark eyes, and a lively smile. Besides that, she has lots of energy, it seems, for she says her favorite hobby is horseback riding. However, practice of her pet outdoor sport has been postponed for eight months because of a serious accident. It seems that a horse Marilyn was riding threw her, and she fractured a vertebra in her neck. Despite this unfortunate occurrence, she intends to resume her riding as soon as the rest period is over.

In addition she has music as another interesting hobby. She plays both the piano and the string bass. She took piano lessons for about five years and reports that her favorite composers are Beethoven and Mozart. The composition she likes best is Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique."

Hobbies are always a good introduction to activities, and Marilyn's have been many and varied. Among them are Band, Orchestra, Swing Band, Pep Band, a cappella, Girls' Glee Club, Masque and Wig, National Thespian Society, G.A.A., F.H.A., and Corral Staff.

This agreeable girl could think of only one pet peeve: hecklers in speech class! She advises all underclassmen (or in this case—women), "Never start knitting argyles."

Marilynn states that while it will be a great disappointment to her if she cannot be a street-cleaner, she will be satisfied to be a commercial artist in the field of illustration. She plans to attend the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

wise to ask that girl to the G.A.A. dance early.

With that parting advice I should like to sign off till next week. Parting is such sweet sorrow. Pit, pip, horrah! And all that sort of rot.
