BARRINGTON WINS SECOND CONFERENCE TITLE UNDEFEATED

Once again the Barrington Bronchos have won the Northwest Conference undefeated. Barrington football teams have captured 14 straight conference games, their victory streak reaching back to 1947. Twelve of these contests have seen the opposition held scoreless.

This season the Bronchos met no serious opposition, scoring 282 points contrasted with 25 for their opponents, a game average of 35 to 3.

The conference race was close with the exception of first and last place. Wauconda, in its first year of competition was no match for any of the seven other teams. Ela, in contrast, earned second position, whereas Grant, said perhaps to be Barrington's downfall, faltered badly in the closing weeks of the season.

Tied with Grant for third place with 4-3 records are Antioch and Northbrook. Bensenville, breaking even in 6 games, managed to lead Palatine (2-5) and Wauconda (0-7) in the conference contention. Ela and Bensenville did not meet each other this season. If they had and if the Bison had won, this would have thrown five schools into a tie for second with 4-3 records. This is very indicative of the race between these schools.

JUNIOR PLAY TO BE PRESENTED FRIDAY AND SATURDAY IN GRADE AUDITORIUM

The work done behind the scenes is a very important factor in any successful production, a fact certainly not untrue in "You Can't Take It with You." The properties committee has had a long and discouraging task to face. In the play book the number of properties listed exceeds three hundred and ten, for the living room scene is in keeping with the eccentricities of the family. Some of the special items needed are pet snakes, a kitten, many pictures and various and numerous odd knick-knacks which portray the zany family's character and pastimes.

The make-up has also created some problems. It may be worth the effort to come to see the play to see Chuck Wilkes, with his thick, black curly hair, as a bald Italian. A special "bald wig" has been bought for this purpose. Two Negroes in the cast will require black hair and make-up. As dye has not proved effective for black hair, black pancake make-up will have to be used on Muriel Lindberg and Ronald Andrae.

Six new spotlights have been built by Bill Thomas and Wayne Listhartke. The scenery crew has produced hand-painted wallpaper in a design which could probably be found in none other than the Sycamore home. As this is not a period play, the costumes belong to modern times, but the costume committee must make sure that the clothing of none of the nineteen cast members clashes with any other. They must find a ballerina costume and also some sort of costume for Mr. De Pinna (Chuck Wilkes) as he poses as a discus thrower for Mrs. Sycamore (Gwenn Bardwell).

And as for sound effects, when a basement full of gunpowder and firecrackers explodes, the flashes of light must coordinate with the sounds of the explosion.

The program has been designed by Joanne Hager as a dollar bill, signifying the money which you can't take with you.

All Barrington High School students will be admitted on their activity (Cont. on page 5, col. 1)

FLAGPOLE TO BE DEDICATED TOMORROW

Tomorrow, Armistice Day, at 10 A.M. the new 60 foot flagpole will be dedicated. The V.F.W. will sponsor the event, with the Ladies' Auxiliary of that organization, which donated the flag, participating. The band will be on hand, and Mr. Thomas will speak.

A. B. DICK REPRESENTATIVE GIVES DEMONSTRATION

Friday morning, November 4, at 9:30 a representative from the A. B. Dick Company in Chicago gave a demonstration on the mimeoscope. Some future cartoonists for the Broncho as well as a few other staff members and commercial students attended.

The mimeoscope is an illuminated drawing board. All cartooning and lettering for the Broncho is done on it.

Miss Butler, the A. B. Dick representative, explained in detail the stencil sheet, which is used on the mimeoscope. She was careful to point out that the flexible writing plate must always be used. A cartoonist must be sure to use the correct stylus for each type of work. There are about ten different styli from which they choose. The demonstration al-

BOTTOMLEY HOOCH SPEAKS

Last Thursday we all heard a demonstration of a few musical instruments. The men that played them for us seemed to be enjoying themselves, and we realize that it would probably be fun to play with an orchestra or band; but we are convinced that we wouldn't have the time.

We have occasionally complained about our band and would like to hear a large orchestra at the class plays and other occasions. It seems easy enough to complain, but not so easily can we do something about it. It never occurs to us that if we would take it upon ourselves to learn to play an instrument we would have better music organizations. Playing an instrument is so far removed from our everyday habits that we don't realize the pleasures it can give us provided that we put forth a little effort.

In many other things besides music we find that we are a little slow about starting something new that takes some effort. Some of us complain about the articles in our paper, but we don't even consider trying to write some better ones ourselves.

When a project is discussed in one of our clubs or class meetings, we all have ideas how it should be accomplished, but few of us ever consider doing the actual work.

If all of us would put out a little extra efforts in making these projects successes, I'm sure that we would all enjoy our organizations much more. Also if we would attempt something new that demands work on our part, we would have a broader and more useful life.

so included the use of the silk screen and the shading plates.

After Miss Butler had finished her demonstration of cartooning and lettering some of the students tried their skill on the mimeoscope.

Those who attended the demonstration were David Schwarz, Amelia Vanderveen, Bill Anderson, June Morecraft, Helen Piffner, Jane Meller, Frances Bentley, Charlotte Alexander, and Miss Leonhard.

BRONCHOS END UNDEFEATED YEAR WITH 33-7 TRIUMPH OVER GRANT

The last sixty minutes trickled through the hourglass of football time last Saturday. Grant was swept under the pounding hoofs of the Bronchos to suffer a 33 to 7 defeat. The victory climaxed their second successful season and championship crown. It was the thirteenth consecutive win and the fifteenth consecutive conference win. They last lost to Arlington Heights.

It took but five downs for the first Broncho touchdown, which evolved on a 40 yard run by Shuett. Heckmiller's conversion was good. Roake snagged a 20 yard pass for the second T. D., followed by a good conversion also.

Then a "button, button, who's got the button?" incident followed in which there were three consecutive fumbles, Barrington receiving the better end of the deal. Roake executed a fake punt which completely fooled the opposition for a time, but not long enough in which to gain the needed yardage. Hansen connected for the third T. D. on an 8 yard plunge through center. Grant prevented a shutout by completing a pass play and conversion for its 7 points in the second quarter. There was no scoring in the third quarter, but in the final fifteen minutes Hansen and Popp added 12 more points, and Heckmiller one last conversion for 33 points.

Roake played at quarter briefly during the last period, giving rise to speculation that Mr. Fry might attempt to use him there next season. Seniors playing their last football game for B.H.S. included McNichols, Berghorn, Calkins, Beutel, Webb, Hansen, Frey, Shuett.

WAUCONDA DEFEATS PONIES, 19-3

Wednesday afternoon the Barrington Frosh-Soph played Wauconda on the latter's field. The Wauconda team was the same one that the varsity had previously defeated, 73 to 0. At Wauconda there is only one (Cont. on page 4, col. 2)

PONIES OVERCOME NORTHBROOK, 20-0

Saturday in the game preceding the varsity contest at North Park the Ponies ended their '49 football season successfully by defeating Northbrook 20 to 0. The Ponies played well and dominated the play throughout the game. Northbrook came up with a unique, but apparently ineffective 5-4-2 defense. Barrington, however, was carefully coached on this defense, which concentrated the power in the center of the line. The Ponies were able to run the ends and slice off tackle with comparative ease.

Northbrook kicked off, and the Ponies began their march from their own 38 yard line. They marched steadily down the field to the Northbrook 19 yard line, where an intercepted pass temporarily stopped the advance. However, four plays later Whitmer broke through to block a Northbrook punt, and Naylor fell on the ball on the 19 yard line. In three plays Heckmiller crashed over from the 5 yard line for a touchdown. Heckmiller was the workhorse of this first touchdown drive, carrying the ball seven times for a total gain of 55 yards, an average of almost 8 yards per try.

The Ponies kicked off, and after an exchange of punts "Moose" Harrison recovered a Northbrook fumble on the Northbrook 32 yard line. Hamilton passed to Paulson for a 20 yard advance, and Heckmiller picked up the remaining 10 yards in two plays for his second touchdown. This time he missed the extra point.

In the second half the Ponies couldn't start to roll until the beginning of the last quarter when Thomas intercepted a pass on his own 26 yard line. Once again Heckmiller spearheaded the attack down the field, but it was Bergen who scored on a beautiful 20 yard run. Heckmiller made it two out of three in the extra point department, and the Ponies led, 20 to 0.

The Ponies kicked off and held their opponents for 3 downs. Northbrook punted, and Bob Meyer, aided by fine blocking, ran the ball back 45 yards to the Northbrook 28 yard line. The second and third stringers, some of whom were appearing in their first football game, then took over, and no further scoring occurred.

BARRINGTON WINS SECOND TITLE UNDEFEATED

In the only Barrington non-league game Lemont was trounced 25-6. The Broncos looked good in the first game of the season, and it was predicted that they would successfully defend their title.

Then at Antioch Barrington defeated the Sequoits 19-0, although the score was not indicative of the total rout. Fumbles thwarted several touchdown drives that would have piled up the score.

The following week-end was Homecoming. With traditional spirit the champions, after a shaky start, swamped the Palatine Pirates 36-0. Fans were saying that this year's team surely did not have to take a back seat to last year's powerhouse.

Expecting the toughest battle of the year, Barrington journeyed to Lake Zurich to meet the Ela Bears. The team's fears were short-lived as the Bronchos scored with ease, winning 31-0.

Northbrook was next in line for slaughter. The Broncho offensive machine rolled up a 32-0 count, several touchdowns being called back.

Scoring at will in every quarter, Barrington needed an adding machine in its 73-0 triumph over Wauconda. Long runs were the rule instead of the exception as the Bronchos found it difficult not to score. At one time the Champions chalked up three touchdowns in four consecutive plays from the line of scrimmage.

The 1949 edition of the Bronchos had been unscored upon in five conference games when they met the Bison of Bensenville. The Bronchos scored on the second play; but the Bison were keyed up, and their offensive drive, the best Barrington had seen all season, was climaxed by a pass completed in the end zone. At half-time a worried team from Barrington left the field winning 7-6. After Bensenville scored its second touchdown to go into the lead, the Bronchos decided to play football. Final score: 33-12, another victory for Barrington.

Playing spotty ball, the Bronchos were still able to trounce Grant 33-7. Fumbles and penalties held the count down. This final contest climaxed the most successful season ever experienced by a Bar-

"B" CLUB TO SEE THREE GAMES

The Lettermen's Club will take in three major athletic events over the week end. On Saturday they will see the North-western-Colgate football game. Sunday the members will travel to Chicago to watch the Bears play the Detroit Lions in a professional football game. In the evening they will be spectators at the Blackhawk-Montreal Canadian hockey game. The coaches are being taken as guests of the club.

team, which could be classed neither as varsity nor frosh-soph, since a good many sophomores played in the game.

After a scoreless first period, Dave Heckmiller was sprung through the Wauconda line for forty yards and six points. He added the extra point.

Wauconda came back and climaxed a long march with a touchdown late in the second quarter, but when the attempted extra point failed, Barrington led 7 to 6 at half time.

Hamilton scored in the third period and Barrington's lead appeared safe. Wauconda, however, scored on a long pass play, kicked the point, and tied the score.

After a series of unsuccessful plays for each team, Wauconda again began to march on ground plays. With very little time remaining the Bulldogs scored on an end run.

By then darkness was coming on, and the desperation plays the Ponies threw were not completed.

rington squad, which won eight games while losing none.

It is impossible to compare justly the two champion teams, but let us say this: Last year's team was said to be the best ever seen in the Northwest Conference; this year's squad is equal to the same praise.

Mr. Fry deserves and has received the appreciation of the entire team. As a fine coach and equally fine man, he has inspired the boys to play a good and a clean game of football. The entire school owes him its thanks. Good luck next year!

NATURAL HISTORY CLUB VISITS EUSTICE ESTATE

Twenty-five members of the newly organized Natural History Club took an excursion to Eustice Lake to see the geese and other animals there.

The group left school about 11:30 last Friday and rode out in cars. Upon arriving they went first to the lake to see the geese. It was estimated that there were about 10,000 of them on the lake. Mr. Watson discovered a deserted blue heron nest.

After the group had observed the geese, they went to the bird house. In this building there are several kinds of birds, including doves, love birds, beautifully colored pheasants, a macaw, and some parakeets.

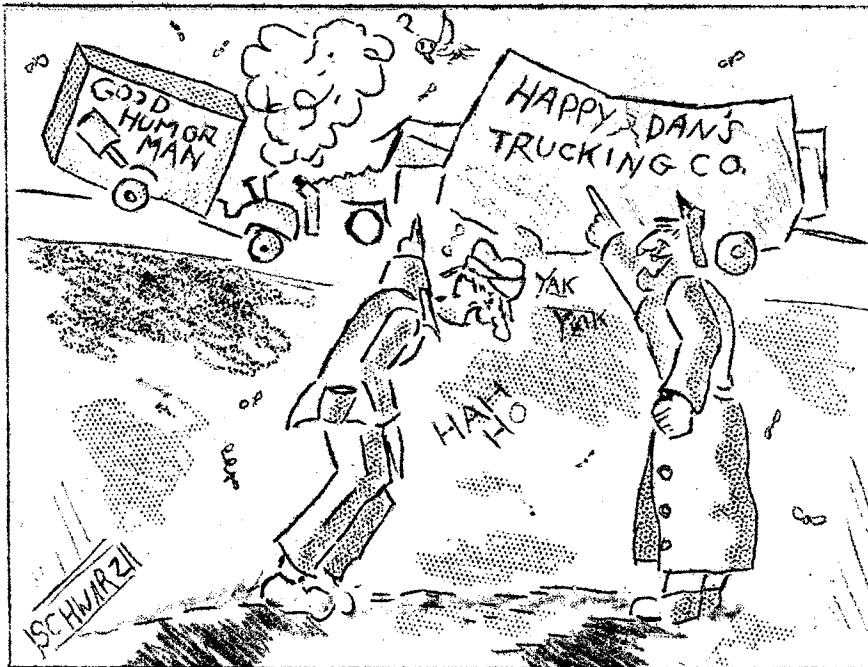

Before they left for school, the group took time to see Charlie, a pet swan, and also a tame fawn.

All the members seemed to enjoy themselves and look forward to similar outings with the new club.

The club wishes to thank Mr. Beckhart for the invitation, and Bob for arranging the trip.

MR. BARDWELL SHOWS SLIDES OF ENGLAND

Last Monday Mr. Bardwell, certainly no stranger to freshman English classes, entertained the American history classes with some beautiful and interesting slides of London and rural England, which he took on a recent visit to that country. The slides looked like the work of an expert photographer, although Mr. Bardwell said the only way to become a good photographer is to throw out the bad pictures.

Slides of the London fish market, the Parliament building, Westminster Abbey, the Thames River, the English countryside, and country manors were but a few of the more impressive. In addition Mr. Bardwell displayed photographs of Wall Street in New York and of the Queen Mary, including the beautiful sunset at sea.

Mr. Bardwell closed by saying that, until we realize that foreigners are not "different" but are basically the same, peace in the world will not be a reality and that he hoped many of the students present would have the opportunity of traveling.

MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN HUGE SUCCESS

Congratulations go to Paul Biek, winner of the Sentinel Portable Television set. In spite of the fact that Paul's name was in the drawing box only three times he was lucky enough to surpass those who had their names in as many as one hundred times.

Seven days of hard work resulted in the total sales of $3,322.15 which didn't quite reach the school's quota. However, this year's quota remained the same as last year's, even though we didn't maintain the aid of the junior high students.

From the total dollar sales, approximately $425.00 went back to the students themselves in prizes and awards. This group includes daily drawings for watches, Sentinel Television Set, a trip to Chicago for Miss Sheel's American History Class with 222% of quota, and $50 to the high school class having the highest total percentage.

Other prizes went to the twelve high salesmen for the entire week. They include the following:

Steve Roake	Boy's Wrist Watch
Dorothy Griffin	3-Way Portable Radio
James Ogden	Table Radio
Dorothy Hansen	Olympic Jacket
Barbara Hunter	Pack-a-robe
Shirley Schramm	Flash Camera
Kenneth Shuett	Eversharp Pen and Pencil Set
Peggy Reeve	Travel Case
Barbara Cole	Bicycle Speed-o- meter
Bill Staehle	Camera
Marlene Johnson	Post Stories
Edith Desort	Post Stories

Fifty dollars was added to the junior class treasury as their award for 147.4% of their quota, the highest percentage of the four classes. The freshmen netted 96.3% of quota, sophomores 57.6%, and the seniors 61.3%.

From the total net sales, the school has received approximately $750, which will be used for school purposes. The organizations profiting in this manner will be announced later.

MUSIC FESTIVAL ATTENDED BY BARRINGTON STUDENTS

Mr. Fred and five students from the orchestra went to a music festival at Elgin High School Monday. In the afternoon speakers held sessions dealing with the technique and study of several string instruments. A program by the Walden String quartet followed. In the evening there was a concert. The entire festival was presented by the music department of the University of Illinois. The players were members of the Simfoniotta, a group conducted by Mr. George Kuypers.

The Walden quartet's program was a demonstration of music interpretation. In a series of well-chosen examples, it pointed out that the performance of music does not end with the playing of mere notes.

The concert at 8:00 P. M. was an interesting one. After an eighteenth century string number, excellently performed, the Simfoniotta set forth Maurice Rand's "Introduction and Allegro" for harp, woodwinds, and strings. This was music of beauty and poignance, and it was performed with understanding.

A piece entitled the "Dumbarton Oaks Concerto, by Igor Stravinsky, was then played. Although often lacking in inventiveness, this offered much material for the orchestra. Despite its frequent time changes, however, the work may not have been as difficult to play as it sounded.

Mozart's "G Minor Symphony" ended the program, except for an encore.

DICK RIPPY ELECTED PRESIDENT

The square dance club meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays during activity period.

On Tuesday one new dance will be learned, and the rest of the time will be spent with dances already known.

On Thursday freshmen and other new dancers will meet and learn the regular routines. The main idea is to have loads of fun and learn all the dances the exhibition team knows.

The club plans to have a party once every month.

Dick Rippy was elected president of the club, and Kenny Shuett treasurer.

WHOSE BLOG?

This week I had a girl and a boy to interview. The former is one of our leap year studes, born on February 29, 1932. This blonde-haired, green-eyed female, measuring 5' 4½", is known as "Rusty" among her pals.

Rusty told me that when she graduates she would like to take a six-weeks' training course for comptometry work. Let her explain it to you; it's too complicated for me.

Her pet peeve is people who say "things," but don't mean them. Hmmm.

Among the things Rusty enjoys doing during her leisure time is reading. She also likes football and basketball games.

While in high school she has participated in many activities: G.A.A. and a cappella all four years, Girls' Glee Club every year but her third, Stephen Foster group during the last two, Square Dancing the first three, Latin Club in her freshman and sophomore years, and Masque and Wig while a sophomore.

Rusty's advice to underclassmen is to study in the lower grades because you won't in your senior year. Truer words have never been spoken.

Rusty could be no one but Marianne Hartwig.

The boy for this week is a very talented fella who has blonde hair and blue eyes; he has been tagged "Downbeat" by his buddies. He is 5' 11" tall and was born on December 27, 1930, a lovely Christmas gift for his mom.

I imagine Downbeat shares many other first year typists' pet peeve: those charming 15-minute tests.

Last summer Downbeat was a staff photographer for the Wigan Daily Courier-News. Be sure to have him tell you some of the experiences that he had; they surely are worth listening to!

After high school, Downbeat plans to go to the Winona Advanced School of Photography in Winona, Indiana. After he finishes the course, he will accept either the offer of the Herald-American to be on their photography staff, or else the offer from the Shaw Advertising Agency, which also wants him to be on its photography staff. He told me he will probably pick the Shaw offer, since he is more interested in advertising photography than news photography.

How did he acquire the name of Downbeat? Just watch him beat on his drums, and you'll know in a second.

Another achievement of Downbeat's was the formation of a dance band, called the "Stardusters," last year; it is not in existence now, for some of the members are in college.

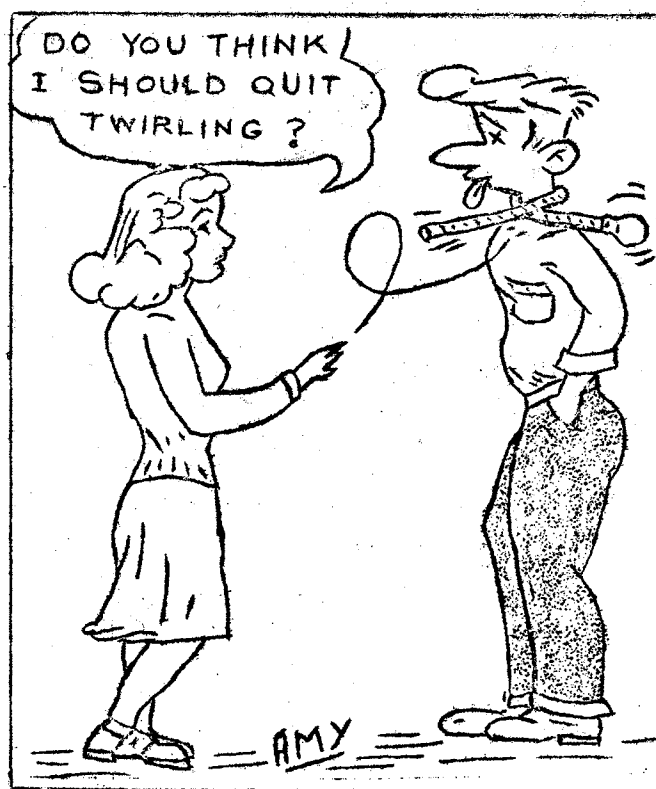

When I asked him who his ideal woman was, he told me he didn't have any special one, but that THE one will eventually show up, and when she does, she will have a very dramatic personality, long blonde hair, blue eyes, and will be 5' 2" in height.

Naturally Downbeat is none other than our own Roger Shales.

APOLOGIES TO LOIS HEIDKE

In the article last week on the "Citizens of Tomorrow" program Lois Heidke's name was omitted by mistake.

Lois was chosen as Barrington High School's star entertainer and performed very able at the piano. Her solo was "The Little White Donkey."

KAROUSING KID

I thought for a minute that there would be a snow storm one day last week. Much to my disappointment only a few snowflakes were scattered. Old Man Weather was probably giving us a sample of what may come in the future.

Last Thursday the proofs from the senior pictures arrived from Root Studio. What vain creatures the seniors are! Everyone was busily passing his pictures around for the rest of the day. The only complaints that I heard were from those who thought that the pictures looked like themselves.

It's not hard to tell what Martha Fontaine's favorite song is. Did you hear a loud, boisterous voice blurting out in the music assembly with "I Can Dream, Can't I?" Too bad they weren't able to play it for you, Martha.

We can all relax now that the football season, and a very successful one at that, has ended. In a couple of weeks our minds will turn toward basketball, which should prove to be as exciting, since we are playing several top-notch teams, one of which, West Aurora with its John Biever, went down state last year.

The drawing for the portable television set took place Monday during first period. Jim Tuohy was chosen to draw for the lucky winner--Paul Biek, a member of the junior class. Luck seems to be behind that class. Paul had his name in the box only three times.

A well attended party was given at Roake's to climax the football season. Besides the delicious food, spontaneous entertainment was provided. Mr. Gaffney seemed to be the center of attraction. What a sharp dancer he must have been in his youth! Consult Georgia or Mrs. Kuffel for information on his dancing techniques.

Forrest Berghorn believes there is a time for sympathy and a time for grammar. During an injury in the game Saturday he groaned to his assistants, "Just let me lay here a minute. Spontaneously Guy responded, "You mean lie."

Armistice Day there is no school. Aren't we fortunate that it falls on a Friday. Have a good week end, everybody.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Question: What is your opinion of the new seating arrangement in the cafeteria?

Kay Shepard--I don't like it at all, because I think lunch period should be a time when you can sit and relax with your friends and not be just another class.

Kit Lasch--It smacks a little too much of regimentation. I don't see how it can solve the problem, and I don't know of anyone who wants to sit in the same seat for twelve weeks.

Joan Gruenewald--I don't see how this arrangement could improve the problem. The captains will soon begin to slack on the job, and since everyone's dissatisfied, nothing will get done.

Duncan Aspinwall--I don't like it, but it is needed.

Virginia Kossack--It's O.K., I guess, but in a way I think it's too "cliquey." Before, we had more of a chance to get acquainted with others. It certainly is more orderly though.

Stoddard May--I don't like the idea because you can't associate with different people.

Nancy Shuett--I think this seating arrangement is perfectly silly, because lunch hour is the only time friends can get together and they should not be watched so strictly.

John Calkins--It gives me indigestion.

Joy Paulson--I don't like the idea at all. It makes me feel as if I'm in grade school. Why not have captains for every two tables, but let the kids sit where they please?

Dotty Griffin--I don't especially care for the idea. It really won't help much in the manner of keeping tables clean, because if the kids feel like being careless, they're going to be careless and that's all there is to it.

Jim Frey--The main trouble with the arrangement is the idea of regimentation. It has taken away student responsibility. Many do not want to sit at the same table for such a length of time. The arrangement would be more suitable in a grade school.
