

THE BARRINGTON REVIEW.

VOL. 9. NO. 30.

BARRINGTON ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1904.

$1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

WAUCONDA MENTION.

Succinctly Told by Our Regular Correspondent.

Really, our boys couldn't help it; 15 to 3.

Will Basely of Union, spent Sunday with his parents.

Horn—Friday morning to Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Harris, a son.

Harry Geary of Libertyville, spent the first of the week with friends here.

Andrew Oakes, one of our oldest residents, is seriously ill at present writing.

Dr. Hobbs' gasoline launch has been put into commission for the summer and runs fine.

Chas. Wick and wife of DesPlaines visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. Malman this week.

"Better late than never" is the motto of the Tonic club which has just been organized.

The Misses Winifred O'Neill and Kit Carroll, of Chicago are spending the week with Miss Nettie Murray.

Mrs. Hapke and family and Mrs. Strauber, of McHenry, were guests at the home of H. Malman and family Wednesday.

Unless the Fish Commissioner takes early and decisive action against the people who insist upon selling Bangs Lake salmon nightly Wauconda will soon cease to be a resort for fishermen.

The Catholic social field on the parsonage lawn last Saturday evening was a success both socially and financially. Besides the eating attraction several other features were prominent. A fine program was arranged and well rendered. The police court proved to be quite an exciting affair. Some what surprised innocents were constantly arrested by the village policemen and tried before his honor, Justice Howard O'Neill. The charges quite frequently preferred were flirting and kissing young girls of thirty or thereabouts who were unable to defend themselves. The captives were given some good wholesome advice by his honor and let off with a heavy fine and cautioned not to repeat the offense. Over $100 was cleared, which will be used towards paying the church debt.

Brutally Tortured.

A case comes to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobok of Collins, Calif. writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me until I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." "Just as good for Liver, and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by G. C. Roberts & Co. Druggists."

LANGENHEIM.

Mrs. Kraus is on the sick list.

E. W. Riley transacted business at Nunda Tuesday.

Miss Lizzie Riley is spending this week with Nora Riley of Woodstock.

Martin O'Hern and Ray Loco of Barrington called on friends here Sunday.

Miss Sarah McNeve returned to St. Charles Sunday after a week's visit with Lizzie Riley.

Several of the young folks attended the ice cream social at Wauconda Saturday evening.

Chicago's Death Rate.

Chicago is getting to be a notorious healthy place to live in. It is being demonstrated that the Chicago public is better educated in sanitary matters than the people of any other community. Much of this is due to the efforts of women's clubs of the city.

It is practically due to women's organizations, or women in charge of men's organizations, that the city has been gaining cleaner premises, back yards and alleys.

The latest report of the Chicago Health Department states that the mortality of children under 5 years of age, in that city, is 30.8 per cent less than London's; 25.2 per cent less than New York's. The general death rate of the city, adults and all, is 1.9 per cent less than London's and 15.4 per cent less than New York's.

Out of 146 dairies examined during the week ending July 16, 50 were found to be feeding "wet milk" to their cows. They have promised to stop it and many farmers will make affidavit that they will abandon this feed if allowed to ship milk to the city.

Death of Mrs. C. G. Burgess.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. C. G. Burgess on Monday, July 11, at Clinton hospital, Ashbury, Mass., where she was taken three months ago from Chicago. The cause of death was cancer of the stomach and followed an unsuccessful operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were residents of Barrington for ten months and left here just a year ago last week. Mr. Burgess while here was superintendent of the American Malleable Iron company's plant at Chicago Highlands. They made their home at the Commercial Hotel and Miss Margaret Lamey.

Great regret was felt by their many friends here when they left Barrington. The death of Mrs. Burgess' death will be sad news to all of them. She was 46 years of age and had never fully recovered from the shock received four years ago in the sudden death of a daughter and only child, aged 15.

Mr. Burgess while here became a member of the local organization of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Milking by Electricity.

A recent consular report from Germany tells of a newly invented apparatus for milking cows by electricity. In which rubber boots are attached to the udder of the cow. These boots are connected with a vessel for receiving the milk by means of a rubber tube, from which the air is exhausted by means of the electric device. It is claimed that the suction thus secured is more powerful than the sucking of a calf and that for this reason the cow "lets down" her milk more freely than when milked by hand. It is also claimed that absolute cleanliness of the milk may be secured when this method of milking is employed.

The courts have decided that the Igorrotes do not have to wear trousers. It is evident that the judges who made the decision have had experience with St. Louis climate in summer.

So long as our two most prominent cities are Oyster Bay and Esopus we have no stones to throw at the outlandish names of towns in the far east.

A warning has been given to Washington policemen not to chew toothpicks. Evidently there should be a school of good etiquette.

The campaign managers should secure the votes of the Russians who report Japanese losses to make anti-election estimates.

At the World's Fair.

In a corner of the Horticultural building at the St. Louis world's fair some California have set up a model orange orchard as large as a good sized dining room and needing only the odor of orange blossoms to make it seem the real thing, says the St. Louis Globe Democrat. The little patch of real dirt and stones and natural looking trees with paper leaves and fruit is backed by a screen of red flannel and valley with a perspective reaching back for miles to the foothills of some snow covered mountains. The whole thing is a copy of a well-tended orange orchard in the district and shows fields of the various crops raised there, along with models of the residences—the roads, bridges and irrigating flumes.

At one side is a rough mountain slope with miners' tents and shacks, and even a red clothes line with flapping blue overalls and red flannel shirts of miniature size. Tricking down over a rocky bed goes a stream of real water, and out through a tunnel comes an irrigating ditch of cement, with various locks, through which the water is turned into the laterals that carry it down between the rows of orange trees. These are spaced as in the real orchard, and a spear of grass appears in the dirt between the rows, where the yellow fruit shines among the green leaves.

In the yards of the neat little villas are beds of artificial flowers, and before one doorway waits a little automobile, while realism is still further attained by some genuine bonnet tops, tarantulas and centipedes in the dust and stones of the foreground.

Fewer Clocks in Japan.

A Japanese newspaper says: "The home market for clocks is gradually becoming depressed owing to the war, the high price of articles suffering most. On the other hand, the exportation of clocks to south China is increasing. The exports amounted to 370,000 yen ($75,000) in value last year and will probably exceed that sum this year. These clocks are principally used by the Chinese for decorative purposes rather than for telling the time."

In the Matrimonial Market.

Those wonderful Japs! Whether in martial or matrimonial affairs, they are worth studying. The praise of the geisha girl has been sung the world around. But it seems that she is not the only portion of female Japan that is worthy of note. For example, there is the widow. The widow of any clime has a charm of her own, but the widow of Japan is a dream, and the best of it is that she is a dream that comes true.

All of these things the world already knew. But here is a delightful piece of femininity from the Flowery Kingdom that has just come to light. The marriageable ones—maiden or widow, as the case may be—let the fact be known in the way they wear their hair. Think of the convenience of it! A man there need not be lost in following a blind lead.

Widows—of whom there will soon unfortunately be a greatly increased number—cut their hair short and comb it back plainly without a parting, unless indeed they are prepared to accept fresh offers, in which case they wear a broad hint of their inclinations by twisting their hair round a long small hairpin placed horizontally across the back of the head. Marriageable maidens distinguish and, as it were, advertisement themselves by combing their locks high in front and arranging them in the form of a butterfly—which is something to be caught—or a fan half open and adorning these significant designs with bright colored balls and gold or silver cord. Speaking generally, the dressing of the hair, which is changed at intervals from childhood upward, is an indication of the age and position of the simple minded and fascinating female Jap.

While praising the soldiers and sailors that are busy reducing the inflation of the Russian egg, let us not forget the dainty femininity of the island empire who are considered enough to let a man know when they are in the matrimonial market.

A twelve pound New Jersey fish recently caught had in its stomach a watch stolen three years ago. Query: Which is the greater miracle, the fish swallowing the watch or a man swallowing the story?

There are seven candidates for president: Roosevelt, Parker, Watson, Swallow, Debs, Corrigan and Scott. There will be six victims for the slaughter.

A St. Louis man wants a divorce because his wife has not spoken to him for eleven years. That is not the complaint of most men.

The discomforts of summer railway travel will now be doubled by the importation of the straw vote man.

Maccabees Change Rates.

The supreme test, Knights of the Maccabees of the World, have adopted the new schedule of rates recommended by the committee on laws at a recent session. "Whole life insurance will hereafter be furnished new members at rates ranging from 85 cents per $1,000 of insurance at the age of 15 to $2.75 at the age of 50. Present members may re-rate themselves to the new rate for whole-life protection, or may continue their insurance in force at the present rates until the age of 55; after which they must pay at the rate of $3 per month. Disability benefits are not to be paid new members.

Reception Given Bride and Groom.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Lamey entertained eight guests at a dinner given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lamey of Maquoketa, Iowa, who visited Barrington relative Saturday and Sunday while on their bridal tour. Seats of honor were arranged for the bride and groom at the head of the table and were of white with decorations of white flowers and ribbons. On Sunday a family reunion was held at the home of Miss Margaret Lamey and was attended by 20 people. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lamey, Maquoketa, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. James Keating, Mrs. Sara Langhart and Miss Julia Lamey of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snyder and children of Mayfair.

The groom has visited Barrington several times and is well known. He is the proprietor of Lamey's department store at Maquoketa.

Birthday Surprise Party.

Tuesday evening a surprise party was given at the C. P. Hawley home on South street in honor of Miss Hawley who on that day reached his 16th year. The affair was in the nature of a surprise to the host and was planned by his mother, Mrs. C. P. Hawley.

The park-like yard was decorated with gasoline lights. Nearly 50 young people were guests and they remained until a late hour. The time was spent in playing different games and a luncheon was served. A pleasant evening of good fun is the report of the young people.

Railroad Building in Korea.

That the Japs are quite as effective in an industrial as in a military way is shown by the rapid manner in which they are pushing railroad construction in Korea. A recent report from United States Minister Allen states that South Korean construction is being completed on either end out of the whole 268 miles, the whole to be completed this year.

To the north the Seoul-Wiju railway is also progressing very fast. Blasting goes on day and night in a deep rock cut near Seoul. This is expected to be completed to Pingyang this year.

This will give a complete line from Pusan, on the south, to Pingyang, on the north, by the beginning of the new year. That a nation whose attention is engaged in a gigantic war can get and time to push the construction of a railroad in such a rapid and effective manner is little short of marvelous.

Concerning the building of the northern line, from Pusan to Seoul, the Korean Daily Mail of Yokohama recently said:

We learn from the Ji Ji Shippo that the total length of this line is 226 miles and is to be finished in 1905. The line is to be built in two sections, one from Seoul to Pusan, which is 130 miles long and is to be finished in 1904. The other section is to be built from Pusan to Seoul, which is 96 miles long and is to be finished in 1905. The whole will be finished, it is expected, by the end of this year. Already construction is well advanced. A section of 20 miles southward from Pusan and 10 miles northward from Chongju will be finished by June or July, making 30 miles open in all. The portion not actually completed, but surveyed, is 117 miles. There is a very difficult piece of tunneling between Chongju and Seoul, 100 miles long, and the intention is to carry a tunnel through it. It is expected to delay the opening of the service. Two bridges of from 120 to 150 feet and one of 200 feet will have to be built.

The orient is truly awakening. Korea, the dirty and sleepy corner of the far east, is to be reclaimed. The railroad is the harbinger of progress, and where it has made its appearance trade and civilization will certainly follow. New lines are constantly being built in China, and it is only a question of time when the swarms of dead humanity in the yellow kingdom will be touched with a new life. England is pushing into Tibet, and that land of mystery and seclusion can no longer hold back the tide of invasion from the west.

The human race is one race, and the whole earth must be claimed for advancement. What has happened to Japan must happen to all Asia.

Law social next Wednesday evening. Everybody is going.

Celebrates 70th Birthday.

A large gathering of relatives and friends of Dr. E. W. Wood assembled at his home last week Wednesday to celebrate the 70th birthday anniversary of that genial gentleman. It is needless to say that the occasion was a merry one for all present as the doctor and his wife have an enviable reputation for entertaining.

Although considerable past three score the doctor was as young as any of his guests and greatly enjoyed their presence. Those present from out of town were: Messrs. and Mesdames D. K. Foote of Downers Grove; Kimball Oaks, Dr. W. L. Ruggles, Wm. W. Oaks, Geo. Spellman, and Mrs. M. E. Kipp of Oak Park; R. H. Stewart and wife, Mrs. Lizzie Stewart and son; Miss Nellie Stewart and Mrs. Elsie Williams of Chicago; Mrs. M. E. Williams of Vermont. There were eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren present.

Clippings for Business Men.

No advertising has a bad effect on what might be a good business.

This need not be a bad year for the retailer just because of the election. So long as local conditions are good, local merchants can stir up business. Keep pushing for livelier trading for larger sales and for clearing up odds and ends about the place. The pusher for business never fears that panic will strike him. Business is what it is made nine times out of ten.

Each season's business must be so conducted that it will help things along for the next season; and each article sold should be to attract the customer for the next article wanted.

If business is conducted in a way to make friends for the future, those friends will make other friends and each season will witness a growing business. The merchant must appreciate this and be must know that.

to have a good business he must offer good things.

Cleveland's Theatre.

Mr. Cleveland's greater vaudeville in the talk of the public, not only in Chicago, but throughout the entire world. The high standard of the performance is being lived up to, with the result that Cleveland's theatre is always crowded. One surprise follows another and the magnitude of bills presented week after week seems limitless. For the week beginning Sunday Matinee, July 31st, Manager Cleveland offers the following bill.

The Roscoe Midgets the greatest of all European sensations. Professor Macart's wonderful dog and monkey comedians will gladden the hearts of the children. Emmett & Devo will present a pleasing sketch, Billy Link the famous monologue comedian, the two Avols, the greatest gymnasts in the world. Lloyd & Lawrence high class vocalists, and Ernest Hogan the "Black Butterfly" colored aristocrat. As usual there will be two performances daily at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. Matinee prices 10, 15, 35 & 50 cents. Evening prices from 10 to 75 cents.

Will Build a New Bridge.

The special committee of supervisors appointed by the chairman of the Lake county board, met with the commissioners of highways of Cuba township, Monday, at Peterson's Corners, to determine as to the necessity of constructing a bridge over Flint creek. All members were present with the exception of Commissioner Riecke.

After a careful investigation of the old structure it was decided to build a new one of four foot steel bridge with stone or concrete abutments and the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids.

The date of the letting of contract was fixed for 11 o'clock, Monday, Aug. 8th, at Murphy's hotel, Wauconda.

The approximate cost of the new bridge is $1,800 and one-half the cost is borne by Lake county.

ANNUAL MIDSUMMER DANCE

Given by B. S. & A. C. Proves Successful and Pleasant Affair.

The pleasure to be expected in attending a dancing party given by the Barrington Social and Athletic club has become a bridge over the river, and when the midsummer dance is announced annually it is known that a large attendance will gather to be hospitably welcomed by the young men and to enjoy the special arrangements made for the entertainment of all dancers.

The affair this year held last Saturday evening at Forbes' dancing pavilion attracted a large number of young people from Chicago, the village, the surrounding towns and rural districts who danced through a long program of continuous merriment and amusement.

The canvas covering and siding formed the platform into a neat hall and was a good protection from the night draughts. The floor had been placed in excellent dancing condition and the staging for the orchestra was prettily decorated in red and white.

Until a late hour the spectators were numerous and interested. The floor committee were Lawrence Donahue, William Cannon and Miles T. Lamey and the music was by Herma's orchestra of Chicago. About ninety tickets were sold which will result in a financial gain to the club.

Right Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. Had colds, catarrh, had had that for a block. I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 65 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and 1.00. Trial bottles free at G. C. Roberts & Co. Drug store.

If somebody will only send a red ant that will kill the brown tail moth, the people will rise up and petition for the appointment as an agricultural department expert.
