Palatine is in good running order; it has 22 miles of watermains and 31 miles of sewer, with an addition of six blocks now being laid, three blocks of which will be completed this week. Few towns of this size can compare with Palatine.

SUNDAY NIGHT BURGLARS.

The Stores of A. W. Meyer and L. F. Schroeder Entered—A Small Haul Secured.

When the store buildings of A. W. Meyer, dealer in general merchandise, and L. F. Schroeder, dealer in hardware and cutlery, were opened for the transaction of business Monday morning, it was found that thieves had entered during Sunday night and carried away such goods as they wished.

The stores occupy a brick block corner of Hunting and West Main streets, abutting on C. & N. W. Ry tracks. Entrance was effected at the rear of the basement or through the elevator entrance in the Schroeder part of the building. Between the stores are heavy sliding doors, and once inside either store it was easy to cut a way through the doors or force the catchers. However it was done, and not a soul seen or heard the robbers.

What goods were taken from the Meyer store has not been determined, but a suit of clothes, some shirts and other wearing apparel is missing. The opportunity there for a large haul of general merchandise was excellent, but the robbers did not take advantage of it.

The stock in Schroeder's hardware store seemed to suit the fancy of the burglars, and they carried off a number of razors, pocket knives and base ball gloves, the value being estimated at about $75.

In the opinion of Marshal Donia and others the work was that of some persons who had a knowledge of the premises. Generally thieves would not have neglected the safes, or left the valuable goods in Meyer's store untouched. Not a suspicious character was noticed about town by Night-watchman Frabritz and he keeps close tab on the business district.

Local officers and detectives of the Merchants' Protective association have been hot on the trail but have found no clue as yet.

Divorce Litigation Ends.

The three years of divorce litigation between Mrs. Minnie M. Wilmarth and Frank O. Wilmarth ended in the circuit court of Cook county Wednesday when Judge Windsor signed an order giving Mrs. Wilmarth $12,000 alimony. The case has been stubbornly contested by Mr. Wilmarth and his former wife since she was given $75 a month alimony and the custody of their son at the close of a divorce suit two years ago.

The judge's order is in full satisfaction of all claims by Mrs. Wilmarth against Frank O. Wilmarth either for herself or son.

The agreement to satisfy the demands was made outside of court.

Fred Stott Sells Out.

Tuesday morning Fred Stott disposed of his fruit, confectionery and cigar store, and newspaper route to Robert Bennett who took immediate possession.

Mr. Bennett has a large circle of friends in Harrington and vicinity who will be pleased to learn that he has again become a resident of the village and predict for him success in his new business venture.

Mr. Stott will give his attention to the greenhouse now in course of construction.

H. H. Williams reports some one as helping themselves to his potatoes. He is willing to divide, but prefers to have his friends call when he is at home.

Ed. Ernst has about finished his contract of taping the school building. Gus Wichman is following with the plastering. All work on the building is rushing.

The dance given at the pavilion last Saturday evening was not largely attended but was enjoyable. The cool evening breeze interfered with all outdoor amusements.

Mrs. Robert Purecell claims to have cultivated and produced the best and earliest sweet corn of the season. The claim is substantiated by those who have sampled it.

Henry Gilly and family will leave their farm South of the village September 1st, and move into their residence corner of Washington and Elm streets, now occupied by Henry Will.

A new feature of the Review this week to be found on page 5, is the articles on Farm, Orchard and Garden by Triggs. You will find something interesting in the way those matters are presented.

A party of twenty-five young people went to Lake Zurich on a hay rack last evening, where they were entertained at the home of Mr. Ficke. A most enjoyable time was reported by all who participated.

The Baptist Sunday school held its annual picnic on the grounds adjoining the Whitney home at Lake Zurich, Wednesday. The occasion was marked by barrels full of fun, excellent basket lunch and gallons of ice cream.

Dr. Edith A. Kellogg, osteopathic physician, of Chicago will be in Barrington Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Specially, facial and scalp. Treatments by appointment at residences. Word may be left at Mrs. Benton's.

Barrington W. R. C. will hold memorial service at the next regular meeting, Wednesday, August 9, in honor of the late Wilmar W. Blackmar, Commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., who fell at his post duty in Boise City, Idaho, July 16, 1905.

Among those going from here on the Lake Geneva excursion Tuesday were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nordmeier, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schauble, Mrs. Mary Reese, Mrs. E. M. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Tschel, Mr. and Mrs. John Wesolowski, Samuel Clark, C. K. Lapham, Misses Elza Kampert, Alice Church and Amanda Kampert, Ed. Hausman and Walter Landwer.

The present building occupied as a post office is inadequate to the demands of the service, therefore Postmaster Brockway has decided to remove to the Walthausen building during the present week. The building will be put in shape, and new fixtures take the place of those so long in service here. It is time the improvement was made, as we are behind other towns of like population in the equipment of a post office.

Will H. Voss, one of the whitest boys who ever handled a telegraph key or adjusted a relay, has tendered his resignation as day operator at the C. & N. W. station here. It is hoped the company will not accept Willy's resignation. He is too faithful and honorable an employe to let go. He has held down the old chair at the desk in our station for nearly five years and has made a host of friends who will miss him from his accustomed place should his resignation be accepted.

Ehe man Jemanden einen Narren nennt, sollte man warten und ueberlegen was er Sie nennen koennte, ohne seine Wuth zu steigern.—Leroy Powers.

An Enjoyable Lawn Fete.

The ladies of St. Ann's Sewing society gave an ice cream social on a lawn at the Lamey homestead, Wednesday evening. The weather was a triffe cool but pleasant for outdoor enjoyment. The lawn was prettily illuminated by Japanese lanterns and gasoline torches; bunting entwined among the trees, tables profusely decorated with choice flowers, but that which added and attracted most to the scene was the handsome, prettily gowned young ladies who served.

The Barrington Cornet band furnished musical selections, there was a big grab bag which furnished laughable surprises for many patrons and general sociability reigned.

The attendance was large and a nice sum passed into the coffers of the society.

Wenn wir uns selbst sehen wuerden, wie andere uns sehen, alle Aeuergaertze wuerden Ueberstunden zu machien haben.—L. A. Jones.

FROM THE PACIFIC COAST

William Dawson Writes of Sights and Scenes in Washington and Oregon Cities.

CASCADE LOCK, WASH., EDITOR REVIEW:—July 29, 1905.

I write you a few lines relating my wanderings in this, the Great Northwest. Leaving Barrington last March I visited for several days with my son in Chicago and then started for the Pacific Northwest via C. & N. W., U. P., O. S. L. and G. T. E. & N. Rys.

The trip was a most delightful one; my companions on the tourist compartment coach very agreeable, and I was sorry when the trip came to an end. Arriving at Portland April 15, I took passage for Clatskanie, Washington, where I had some business interests to look after. I remained there some days and then went to Olympia, the capital of Washington, and, though not large, a beautiful city, located on Puget Sound. Many places of interest are to be found there, a number of which I visited.

Leaving there by steamer I went to Seattle, a bustling, bustling city of many industries and manufactures. It is like a city of old—built on seven hills (and maybe more as I did not count them). A young man residing in that city, whose acquaintance I formed, acted as my guide one night when I went out "to see the city by artificial light"—not as some men I have heard of go out to see cities at night—but for higher purposes. We would board a street car and go to the summit of a hill, view the surrounding country, then go to another hill and take a view from there. The last hill we visited was the highest and the view afforded is certainly grand.

Here is located a monster standpipe which furnishes pressure for the water system. A spiral stairway leads to the top where an iron platform affords visitors a place from which to view miles of coast line, miles of streets with their hundreds of electric lights glimmering like huge stars; the beautiful waters of the sound, on one side of which lies numberless steamers the waterway shipping facilities between Seattle, the Orient and gold fields of Alaska. This is the main shipping point to the Klondyke.

Not many miles from Seattle the government has a large navy yard, an interesting place for the traveler. I did not visit the yard but I went up the sound about nine miles and saw some works the government has erected there to protect the yard in case of an attack. In addition to Puget Sound on one side of the city, one can take a street car, ride out a few miles, and visit some of the finest fresh water lakes to be found in the country bordered by natural granite cliffs, making the most beautiful parks imaginable.

I remained in Seattle a week and then went by steamer to Tacoma. A spirited competition exists for passenger traffic between Tacoma and Seattle there being the N. P., R. R., Inland, Puget Sound and Astoria lines of steamers. Tacoma is a thriving city and its inhabitants energetic and enthusiastic regarding the prosperity of the city. They are great advertisers, huge posters being placed everywhere, on boats and cars, and especially at Portland.

On the exposition grounds is a huge tower from which flash the words (made of electric lights) same as on the posters, "Watch Tacoma Grow."

I have visited Portland three times, but have visited the exposition only once. The exhibits there are very good, though not on an extensive scale. One can view all in three days. The attendance is much larger than the management expected. There is one building which is a real scientific glory. It is the Forestry building, constructed of logs of mammoth size, and of handsome architectural design.

There is a great tide of travel from all parts of the United States to this section. The people are taking advantage of cheap railroad rates and traveling, not to see the exposition only but the great, growing Pacific states as well.

We had some quite torrid weather here but the nights have been cool, covers required most every night.

Yours truly,
Wm. Dawson.

JUST SUPPOSING

That the Home Paper Should Tell the Truth About Certain Things.

Occasionally we meet a man who insists that an editor could always tell the whole truth in his paper if he wanted to. He can't do it and continue in the business, remarks an exchange.

A Missouri editor tried it and was invited to leave town, and the request was put so forcibly that he "got." Here are some of the items that put him out of business:

"John Bonin, the laziest merchant in town, made a trip to Belleville yesterday."

"John Doyle, our groceryman, is doing a poor business. His store is dirty, dusty, and noxious odoriferous. He deserves a good part of his time loafing around town. How can he expect to do much?"

"Rev. Stix preached Sunday on charity. The theme was a good one but the sermon was long."

"Dave Shuker died at his home in this place, the doctor gave his cause as heart failure. The facts are that Dave was drunk, that whiskey killed him and everybody knows it, and that the doctor lied when he said it was heart failure."

"Paddy Smith's 'blind pig' is running wide open seven days in a week and nobody knows it better than the village duds."

"Married, Miss Sylvia Rhodes and Jas. Canahan last Saturday evening at the Baptist church. The bride is a very ordinary girl who doesn't know any more about cooking than a rabbit and never helped her mother three days in her lifetime. She is no beauty and has a gait like a fat duck. The groom is well known and up-to-date loafer. He's been living off the flocks all his life and don't amount to shucks. They will have a hard life."

"Arch Abercombe thrashed his wife again Sunday."

Flendish Suffering is often caused by sores, ulcers and cancers, that eat away your skin. W. Hedell, of Evansville, Ind., says: "I have used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, for ulcers, sores and cancers. It is the best healing ointment I ever found." Soothe and break out, burns and scalds. 25c at Barrington Pharmacy; guaranteed.
