COAL OPERATORS TO FIGHT UNIONS Plan to Shut Down Mines Until Workers Agree to Accept Reduction, SIX STATES TO BE INVOLVED

Producers, it is said, will fill their docks at both ends of the lakes and will load every boat, barge and scow obtainable with coal between now and April 1. The operators have reached an understanding whereby no contracts are to be accepted for coal between now and April 1—that is, for delivery after April 1. It is expected that on that date coal will advance at least 50 cents a ton. This, it is pointed out, would mean that consumers will benefit and really will make more money than by operating their plants.

Several big Pittsburgh concerns have been at their wits end to make contracts for fuel beyond April 1 without being able to place a contract for a ton of coal. Storage facilities cannot be had on short notice and the consumers will be forced to pay the price demanded by the operators, who will hold their surplus coal from now on.

STATE BANKERS HEAR SHERMAN

Lieutenant Governor of Illinois Addresses Financiers at Bloomington.

ATTRIBUTES OF THE BANKER Man Who Handles the Money of the People Must Be Prophetic and Keep in Touch with the Business of the World.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 22.—The association of a New York financial magazine, aimed at bankers and calling them corruptors of Legislatures, was taken up at the closing session of the Illinois Bankers' association Wednesday.

President Durham poured hot shot into the magazine for its recklessness. He denied the allegation that money had ever been used by the bankers to influence legislation.

He referred to the investigation of all proposed legislation in former Legislatures. He declared that the committees appointed always had acted in the belief that it was foolish to seek to buy legislation for the reason that it would not stay long.

President Durham emphatically denied that any money had ever been used to influence legislation, and declared that bribery never had been resorted to or even considered. The expressions of the president met with the approval of the members.

The speech of President Durham and that of Lieutenant Governor Sherman were two of the most interesting features of the day.

The Lieutenant Governor apologized for the absence of Governor Deneen and expressed his appreciation of the honor of being chosen to take his place. The speaker also discussed the legal supervision of the bank and its reasonable and unreasonable aspects. There can be no conflict, he declared between legitimate banking and the public at large.

Sherman on Bankers. The legitimate and honest banker is an important part of the community. He is the backbone of the nation, in touch with the business public of the world.

Judge Sherman referred to the state banking laws and the laws that are applied to trustees. Nobody, he said, objected to a reasonable control of corporate and private concerns, but you cannot always regulate the private individual who does business.

There is a difference between labor unions and bankers in this respect, and if either survives, it will be through law. We are all created equal, but there is not always an equality of opportunity.

Never Loss Its Strength

Calumet Baking Powder

Is Most Healthful, Wholesome and Economical

How He Knew.

It was a beautiful day, with a single cloud in the sky. The man who was buying some food in a delicatessen store remarked on the weather.

"Yes, it's fine, but it's going to rain," replied the dealer. "Impossible," said the customer.

"I'll bet you a five," said the dealer, "that it rains before the day is over, although I hate to take your money."

The money was put up and the customer went away chuckling. Before night the rain was falling in torrents. The man who lost the bet stopped at the delicatessen store to see the winner.

"How did you know it was going to rain?" he demanded of the storekeeper. The latter chuckled.

"See that ice chest?" he asked pointing to a big box in the corner. The customer saw the ice box. It was sweating big drops of water.

"That chest," said the storekeeper, "is my barometer. When there is rain in the air it begins to sweat; when it is imminent it sheds those big drops you see now. I've had it over two years and it never yet prophesied falsely."

"Never too late to learn," sighed the customer, "but sometimes a little knowledge comes late."
