GIRL IS KILLED IN DOCTOR'S HOME

Evidence That She Was Assaulted First and Then Given Morphine.

FIND UNCONSCIOUS HUSBAND

Adopted Father of 18-Year-Old Lass Is Discovered Partly Dressed in His Couch, Suffering From Effects of Opium.

Chicago special: Dead on her bed, with evidences of a desperate struggle, Irene Kladow, the 18-year-old adopted daughter of Dr. Oliver B. Hart, 915 East Avenue, Rogers Park, was found Thursday evening by the physician's wife. In the library adjoining Dr. Hart's was found, unconscious from morphine and in a critical condition. He was prostrate on the floor.

The girl was taken from the Illinois Industrial School for Girls in Evanston a year ago by Dr. Hart and his wife, and was adopted. Two of her sisters are in the school now and their mother lives in Austin.

Policemen from the Rogers Park station were at the bedside of Dr. Hart, who stated that the girl's death had been unconscious for several hours. It is thought.

The two were found by Mrs. Hart on her return from a shopping trip downtown. The child was alive, but physicians were unable to save her or restore Dr. Hart. When found the girl was only partly dressed, but was on the bed in her room.

"The case presents many phases for rigid investigation," said the coroner at the Rogers Park station. "No post-mortem examination has been made yet, and we cannot say exactly what the cause of the girl's death was. We have our own idea, though."

Finds Child and Husband.
Thursday morning the girl's two sisters went to Rogers Park from Evanston and after a short stay at the Hart home accompanied Mrs. Hart downtown. Irene was to be accompanied then, but she complained of a slight headache and remained at home. The girl's husband, Dr. Hart returned and found the doors locked. No one answered her ring, but after some difficulty she forced an entrance.

She started for her room, but as she passed that of her adopted daughter she saw the child on the bed. Mrs. Hart was alarmed at the child's appearance, and her fears were further aroused when she found the girl unconscious. She hurried to a telephone to summon aid, then in the library found her husband.

The physician first summoned arrived in a few minutes and telephoned for assistance, turning his attention then to the girl, whose condition he saw was the more serious. There was little indication of life, and two hours later the girl died. Dr. Hart's condition was diagnosed at once as the result of morphine poisoning.

Physician Notifies Police.
From the physician's first summonsed the Rogers Park police were notified of strange circumstances connected with the girl's death, and when notice was sent to the coroner the state attorney's office also was notified. Assistant State's Attorney Barber was sent to the home, and at his request police were detailed at Hart's bedside.

According to the police, the girl had been attacked and then poison had been administered. In the child's room the rugs were disarranged, the clothing was in a disorder, the girl's hair was ruffled and matted, and some of it had been torn from her head, strands being found on the floor, the police assert. Dr. Hart, who had not two hours later the girl died, was partly dressed when found. He is 38 years of age.

Dr. Hart came to Chicago something over a year ago from St. Louis, where his parents reside. He received his medical education in that city.

Age, 46; Metropolitan Cut of Job, Beats New York!

New York Times! A motorcar 55 years old, by the name of Edward Bradley, grew dependent over the fact that he could not get back his job on the elevated railroad, which he gave up and tried to strike, and tried to end his life by pounding himself on the head with a hammer. Bradley now lives in the Harlem hospital and suffers with five or six casted limbs as his worst injuries. Bradley's daughter found her father sitting in a chair, his hands clutched savagely a hammer, which he would raise desperately and bring down on his head with as much force as an enfeebled muscle permitted.

They will exchange their goods for cowries or elephant tusks—anything to sell the product and get something in return convertible into money. It may seem odd to some folks, but traveling men carrying cases with samples of American meat products, can be seen in the desert of Sahara, the sands of Zanzibar or in Brazil, "where the outfit comes from." Great is the enterprise of the Yankee merchant. The greater the market, the greater the price and stability of the price of the product and all that goes to make it in its various stages.
