The Young Men's Christian Association will conduct union meetings at the Salem church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and evening at 7:30. Good speakers will make addresses at both meetings, and the music and singing will be made especially entertaining. The afternoon meeting will be addressed by C. H. Gusselbrecht of Woodstock, county secretary of McHenry county, and Chicago workers will be in charge of the evening meeting. All are invited.
The Big Four is to be equipped with long distance telephones. The completion of the work will unite all the principal Vanderbilt lines and an official on any one of them can talk to President Newman's office easily over the system's own wires. Unlike the New York Central and Lake Shore, which have separate telephone wires, the Big Four will use the telegraph wire with the composite arrangement which makes it possible to telegraph and telephone over the same wire at the same time and still not have one service interfere with the other. This increased use of the telephone on railroads, officials say, points to the time when telephone wires will be used for scarcely anything but train orders.
THE SMALL BOY ON GIRLS—A small boy in southern Illinois wrote this essay on girls by request of his teacher: "Girls are the sisters of boys and has long hair and wears dresses and powder. The first woman was called Christmas Eve, though I could never see why. Most every family has one girl, and some of them that is in hard luck has two or three. We have a girl in our own who is my sister, but she is very old and get younger. Girls can grow older and get younger. My sister has been twenty-five for three years and some day we may be twins. Girls play pianos and talk about each other. Fat girls want to be thin and thin girls want to be fat and all of them want to marry doods. Why the Lord made girls nobody nos, but I think it were to go to church and sit in the cream. There are three kinds of girls, burnet girls, blond girls and them that have money. Girls are afraid of mice and bugs, which makes it fun to put 'em down their backs."

A New World Language.
The originator of the new so called world language, "Esperanto," is a Russian, Dr. Zamenhof. At a recent congress of Esperantists held at Boulogne a quarter of a million people were represented, among them Russians, Italians, Frenchmen, Swedes, Germans and Poles. The Esperantists claim that their language is not only simple, easy to acquire and useful for all ordinary purposes, but also built upon literary ideals. The name Esperanto—the man who hopes—was once used by the founder of the language as a pen name.
Esperanto rests upon sixteen rules, and no exceptions are permitted. All the roots are taken from existing words, and the spelling is to the last degree phonetic. It is claimed that a good linguist can learn the language in two weeks and the average student master it in a month or six weeks. At present the French hold the list of converts to Esperanto, perhaps for the reason that the language has a close resemblance to their native tongue.
The desirability of having a universal language will be admitted generally. A common means of communication between members of all races in every country, when it is established, will be a boon to business. It will also add pleasure to those who travel in foreign lands to see the signs and ads are not linguists.
The Black Man to the Front.
On his recent trip through the south the president advised the colored men to stay at home and take part in the commercial development of the region. The south wants laborers, and the blacks are on the ground, lauded to the climate and the peculiar conditions. Negroes are capable of a variety of useful work when they set themselves to it, as was shown in the days of slavery. About all the work done on the Panama canal so far has been performed by Jamaican negroes, and it is estimated that 24,000 negroes will be needed when the construction is in full swing.
On the new railroad along the upper Kongo 4,000 natives have been at work for nearly a year. Opportunities for the blacks in their native zone to gain proficiency in common labor and mechanical industries are opening every day. Even in Africa the negro is taught to make bricks, build houses, grade roads and bridge rivers. No great enterprise can go on without his aid, and if the black race fails to serve the needs of the age it will make a mistake and lead to the displacement of the negro as a factor in civilized development.
Big Salaries Ought to Go.
A comparison of the salaries paid to the heads of large foreign corporations and those drawn by the presidents of our own companies should lead to an awakening on the part of those out of whose pockets these salaries must come. For instance, the heads of the Bank of England and the Bank of Germany, which have aggregate assets of $1,000,000,000, together pay salaries to their chief officers of only $17,500 annually. In this country single individuals at the head of financial corporations are paid several times that amount for supervising funds ranging from one-half to one-fifth as large.
The conditions in this country as compared with the old world, the sharp competition and the volume of transactions may excuse salaries somewhat in excess of those paid abroad, but the difference should not be so great as to create an injustice to the great paying public, which is disposed to be generous.
That new rule providing for the medical inspection of the cabin passengers as well as the steerage on the ocean liners will doubtless create a stir in upper circles. But some very dangerous diseases take their cabin occasionally, so there is no adequate reason for kicking against the new order of things.
The fact that the Lewis and Clark fair at Portland, Ore., was a financial success is believed to be due to its moderate size as regards the number of exhibits and the acreage covered by them. At Portland the buildings were not large, and the exhibits could be inspected quickly.
Empereur William thinks it safe for the powers to withdraw the troops which have been guarding the road to Peking since the Boxer outbreak. China must have progressed along with her neighbors to render this step advisable.
Count Witte showed his good sense and the result of his American trip by calling upon the Russian editors to support the policy of order in the national crisis. Newspapers are better than Cossack whips and bullets.
If the Russian constitution works all right we may expect the kaiser to say that he advised the czar to this reform when he met him for secret conference last summer.

Man's Unreasonableness is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, is so unreasonably when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters." My wife was then so sick she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by Barrington Pharm. act, price 50c.
