Several from here attended the mass quarantine given by the M. W. A. at Palatine last Friday night.

The statistics of suicide for the year just closed show that this crime is alarmingly on the increase in the United States. There were 5,310 cases in 1899, 6,755 in 1900, 7,245 in 1901, 8,291 in 1902, 8,597 in 1903 and 9,240 in 1904. The cause of the increase appears to be little speculated on but that it is in many cases connected with insanity is sufficiently obvious from the fact that last year fifty-five persons committed suicide by throwing themselves in front of locomotives and fourteen by setting themselves on fire.

There seems to be no end to the general intelligence which is required for the proper discharge of the duties of justice of the peace. In Chicago justices have been called on frequently to give judgment on the fit of a woman's dress and in many cases of dogs, and now in Sioux City, Iowa, one of them has just decided whether a Jersey cow has been "fresh" three months or a year. In this last case the justice took the cow into a shed and milked her himself and gave judgment that she had been "fresh" only three months. What was done with the milk is not stated, but it is to be presumed that it found its way to the table of the justice.

Mrs. Harry A. Harris

Mrs. Harry A. Harris, sister of the late J. F. Hollister Sr., died at her home, 128 Walnut street, Chicago, Monday, of pneumonia aged 70 years. The funeral service was held at the residence Wednesday morning. Her remains were brought to Barrington Wednesday noon for burial in the White cemetery north of this village.

In Honor of Washington.

Our tasty and homelike G. A. R. hall was filled with people on the night of Washington's birthday to listen to eulogies spoken of the great man and to be amused by the program, short and in the humor.

The singing of ever popular vocalists of the village and the readings and talks of favorite speakers were duly appreciated. The entertainment was honored by the presence of a world renowned widow and her bouquet of charming daughters who were put through their paces in a manner to enhance their value in the matrimonial market. Girls out of ordinary type were admired and valued. An unexpected pleasure was granted the audience in seeing a confirmed bachelor of this village at last feel the twinge of Cupid's dart and show an awakening interest in a piece of femininity. This occurred in a tavern but the services of two present clergymen were at once offered the gentlemen to make the part a reality. Invitations are not yet out, however.

The worthy cause of the future Soldiers' Monument is to benefit by the proceeds and it was encouraging to see the good attendance.

DOCTORS

With the German Medicine Company Have Told the Truth

In regard to the parasites removed from my family. The three tape worms which are exhibited on the stage by the German Medicine Co., have all been removed from my family, one being removed from myself, one from my wife, and one from my ten year-old son, without any ill effects from the medicine we were being done within three hours time in each case.

We have tried to get rid of those parasites by other sources but all failed to do what the doctors with the German Medicine Co. have accomplished.

Yours truly,
 H. L. PHEIM,
 Village Clerk, Lake Zurich, Lake Co., Illinois.

THE POOR MAN

I happened into the office of a business man in this village the other day and learned how one "self-made man" regards the so-called poor man. The business man had just received a telephone order for supplies, and was turning to his employe asking:

"Has Blank paid that bill he owes here?"

"No replied the employe, "but I think he will. He's alright but hard up. Could a good deal to keep a family going this winter."

"That may be so," said the business man, "but don't let him have any more here unless he pays cash. It's a good rule to think a person is going to do you until he pays what he owes. If you don't you'll lose money by thinking he was 'good.' I've seen lots of poor men who were 'good.' They would run a bill here and then go to another place and pay cash. I was 'poor' once myself."

I remarked that Blank was in very poor circumstances and really what one would call poor—a victim of hard luck.

"But he has no business to be hard up," remarked the business man. A man who is not well-to-do has no one to blame but himself. When I started in business I went to the head of a business firm and told him I wanted to get goods on time; that I was poor but honest. He said, 'my friend, hell is so full of men in your predicament that their legs are hanging out of the windows.' I came to the conclusion that a poor man did not have influence enough in this world to accomplish much. The only thing the poor man can get in this world are hard knocks and religion—the latter don't count much until after he gets it."

I ventured the suggestion that Mr. Blank had a family; that perhaps he could not secure employment.

"That is no excuse. There's work for everybody who goes hunting for it," said the business man. "Sympathy for the poor man is just encouraging him to remain in his present condition, and the good book says 'he that encourageth slothfulness offendeth the Lord.' I'm naming no names of getting turned down when I'm challenged by St. Peter."

Poverty is no disgrace but, as in this particular case, mighty inconvenient. "There is certainly a strong feeling of sympathy in the hearts of some men for those who have failed to 'get ahead in the world,' and if by chance those 'well-to-do' should reach the 'Beautiful Land Over There' they will be mighty lonesome. The poor man will be there and in the majority. Holy writ has so promised."

Annual Report of The Moody Bible Institute For 1904

The report for 1904 issued by The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago shows the institution to be in a more flourishing condition than ever before, since it was founded by D. L. Moody in 1886.

For the second year in succession the institution entered upon the new year without a shortage in its regular course. The total budget in all departments was $12,593.23. The permanent plant including a limited endowment, represents a sum of $375,000. The total number of students enrolled in all departments last year was 1457. Of these 495 were enrolled in the regular department, 287 in the evening department, 417 in the correspondence department, and 258 in the extension music classes. These figures do not include the attendants at the weekly public classes conducted by The Moody Bible Institute in Chicago and other places—amounting to a weekly average of thousands.

"Never see from the brainy girl" smiled the young man. "She feels so happy at having corralled a few books that she has to let every one in on the joke."

"The other evening I called on a very nice girl with very nice parents. Father and mother were peacefully playing cards in the library, and at father's right hand stood a box of cigars, into which I already saw in imagination my hand descending. But, oh, that relentless girl! She dragged me off into the drawing room, where I could not smoke, and entertained me for three mortal hours with the physiology of the brain, which, it appears, she was interested in at that particular stage of the game. I believe she was trying for a degree or something, but she needn't have practiced on me."

"I remember once at a dinner during the fish course that a certain clever young person discoursed about the respective organisms of angeworms and lobsters in a way which in no way increases my appetite for that lobster on my plate, although I determined to admire her learning in future—at a distance.

"Is this American girl" sighed the Frenchman. "She is so stocking blue—how you call it—blue? I call on a young lady, and she talk to me English all the time. Zat is good, for in zat way I learn. But she talk of vat? I ask you of vat? Of love of ze sentiment of ze heart, of poetry, of gentlemen, nothing? No—sacre! She is possessed, zat one. She talk ze entire evening on ze wild and ze tame animals of North America. Mon Dieu, think of zat! She has learn it at school, she repeat it to me, and zat—zat she call conversation!"
 BEATRICE MILLER.

Largest Clock Knows.

What is said to be one of the largest clocks in the world has recently been located in a new tower at Elizabeth, N. J. It is thirty-eight feet in diameter, with eighteen foot hands. The tower, which is a new and unique feature, is presently for the clock, which will be illuminated at night and will be visible for many miles around.
