The HOLSMAN Automobile

PERFECT IN CONSTRUCTION, CHEAP IN PRICE and COST OF OPERATING. When you see the HOLSMAN machine it will make you its friend at once for these reasons:

1. Solid tires, admitting of no punctures.
2. Air cooled. No water to contend with, or broken jackets which occur in frosty weather.
3. No live axles.
4. No transmission gears.
5. No drive shafts.
6. No speed gears, in fact, not any gears to contend with. No clutches. The machine rides as easy as the best made carriage and is controlled by two simple hand levers. Is started, guided, stopped, speeded, reversed and fully controlled by these two simple levers.

Should you have a breakdown, repairs are quickly secured. However, the chances of a breakdown are slim in a Holman. Write me for catalog and descriptive matter.

GOOD FOR CHILDREN.

Value of School Playgrounds as Assured by Parents.

The following may be of interest as showing the impressions that parents get of the value of the playground influence on their children, says the Leaflet (Mass.) Civic League. They are direct quotations.

"It kept him off the streets, and I know where he was." "Seemed perfectly happy all through the summer school term." "Was better able to begin his school studies." "Increased his happiness by having something to do." "Kept him out of mischief." "Kept his mind occupied." "Had his own garden at home and took care of it, something he was not interested in before." "Helped him at school." "Made good use of things he learned." "Was much interested in insects." "Enjoyed himself every day." "Was more agreeable, as he had something to think of." "Set him thinking." "Made home life more interesting in constructing things he saw at school." "Made him more ambitious." "Made him interested in his learning." "Made a pigeon coop, studied birds a good deal and butterflies." "Made him brighter and quicker." "Made him good in his manners." "Did him a good deal of good in his character and disposition."

These are typical of many expressions used by parents who felt that their boys were through the play school benefited rather than injured by the long vacation. They are by no means exhaustive of what might be said in summary of the value of playgrounds for country children, but they certainly will prove suggestive to those who are concerned about the children of the streets of our country towns.

Village art in America must be the fruit of education, says the Chicago Post. England has a Garden City association that pursues its educational schemes through "drawing room meetings." The impulse to improve must have its beginnings in the public spirit of a group of townpeople. If the old-fashioned revival spirit, with its enthusiasm for good works, can be awakened in any neighborhood, the passion for tree planting, lawn making, flower gardens and fountains will find many followers.

The average suburban town masquerading under the name of a village suffers in the first instance by the rules of subdividing a farm and the contract system of building rows of inelegant houses to fit fifty foot lots. The artistic hand has the problem of draping this angular frame in shrubbery, trees and vines. Owing to the variable quality of human nature it is folly to hope that each villager will do his share. The sagacious and thoughtful will always be with us, and the group bent on village art must overlook the slinky and sordid to follow the ideals of the one just man who has learned to love the rewards of beauty.

Beneath the fact of making streets, houses and lawns agreeable and attractive to the eyes and the other fact of increasing the property value thereby is the moral influence of having home surroundings and recreation grounds.
