Poor Pets.

It's pretty tough to have to be a White House dog like me.

And find yourself regarded as a great celebrity.

How awkward 'tis when toward some chap you make a slight advance.

And find that you have up a tree the "bassard" of France.

And, say, it's hard when in the hall you pick a little fight.

With a dog that's boundly leagued and fat.

And someone hits you with a nose and makes you pick up a few dollars.

You'd picked the distribution of the award who "dips" for Germany?

I'd like to hit the alley toot, and never mind the clatter of the tin.

And sink my teeth wherever I please, no matter who was hurt.

This game's a little more complicated than I've tried to follow up.

The joys of private life look best to this here White House pup!

LONG-HAIRED MEN.

The Way Massachusetts Protested Against Them in 1649.

The following protest signed by Jo. Endicott, governor; Thos. Dudley, deputy governor; Richard Bellingham, Richard Saltonstall, Increase Nowell, William Llibbith, and others, is published in Massachusetts in 1649:

"Protest, against wearing long hair, of the governor, etc., of Massachusetts."

"Forasmuch as the wearing of long hair, after the manner of Russians and barbarous Indians, has begun to invade New England, contrary to the rule of God's word, we earnestly desire that men to wear long hair, as also the commendable custom generally of all the godly of all our nation, until within these few years."

"We, the magistrates, who have signed this paper, for the shewing of our own innocency in this behalf, do declare and manifest our dislike and detestation against the wearing of such long hair, as against a thing unbecomely and unmanly, whereby men do defame themselves and offend sober and modest men and do corrupt godly manners. We do therefore earnestly desire to treat all the elders of this jurisdiction, as often as they shall see cause, to manifest their zeal against it in their public administrations, and to take care that the members of their respective churches be not defiled therewith; that so, as those who are obstinate, and will not reform themselves, may have God and man to witness against them. The third month 10th day, 1649."

ADAM'S FIRST WIFE.

The Flandike Lillith Was a Complete Matrimonial Failure.

Whether Lillith was one of the female creations of a deity, or a demon, or something between the two, she was, considered matrimonially, a complete failure. She was expelled after living with Adam for 150 years and subsequently became the mother of Satan, by whom she was the mother of the Jinns, so familiar in Persian fairy lore.

The euphonic remark of Adam when he first saw Eve: "This is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh," makes, it is suggested, a comparison between Eve and the beautiful but fandike Lillith, who was the mother to the latter, while the reference on the birth of Seth to him as Adam's son "in his own likeness, after his image," conveys a painful hint of the unanny offspring born to Adam and Lillith.

Perhaps in revenge for this Lillith name comes translated "night monster" in Israhil xxix—became the worm for of little children, whom she was wont to strangle with one of her bergious golden hairs unless the watchfulness of their mothers drove her away. It has indeed been gravely suggested by an etymologist that the word "hullaby" is simply a corruption of "Lilla, all" (Lillith, variant) which mothers and nurses would croon over the cradles or write on the doorpost.—St. James' Gazette.

An Underground City.

In Galicia, in Austrian Poland, there is a remarkable underground city, which has a population of over 1,000 men, women and children, some of whom have never seen the light of day. It is known as the City of Salt Mines and is situated several hundred feet below the surface. It has its own town hall, theater and assembly room as well as a beautiful church, decorated with statues, all being fashioned from the pure crystallized rock salt. It has well lighted streets and spacious squares, lighted with electricity. There are numerous instances in this underground city where not a single individual in three or four successive generations has ever seen the sun or has any idea of how people live in the light of day.

Backing His Theory.

"Do you still believe in inherited weaknesses?"

"Yes."

"How do you account for the fact that little Mary Binger cries so easy and so often?"

"Her mother worked in an onion canery and her grandmother was an emotional actress."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Pearls of Great Price.

"Your wife's teeth are like pearls."

"They ought to be. I paid for them at that rate."—Tatler.

WHITE WOLF HOTEL AFFAIR.

What Happened to the Saddle Drummer From the City of Brotherly Love Who Kicked Because Things Were Not His Likings.

[Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.]

Major Henderson of Lone Jack announces that he will shoot us on sight. We hope he will not use the borrowed money he owes us first.

We have a communication from the Black Hand of New Mexico demanding that we put the sum of $1,000,000 under a certain stone within thirty days or suffer death.

Miss host of the White Wolf hotel has been somewhat bored for the last five days. A Philadelphia saddle drummer who was a guest of the house kicked because his table knife happened to lack a handle and because the shine had worn off his teaspoon, and in the altercation resulting he was shot through the shoulder. Miss host, who is a new man from Idaho, shouldn't worry about such trifles. They are incidental to every busy community. The old landlady thought times were dull when he didn't pepper at least two kickers per week.

Bill Hope and Jack Downer of Grass Valley fired ten or twelve shots at each other on the street the other day without effect and were then arrested for disturbing the peace. The holy terror is a thing of the past, indeed.

We understand that a protest against us as postmaster has gone to Washington because of the horse race the other day in which we rode our own horse and came out ahead. It will be in vain. The postmaster general knows a good thing when he sees it, and we are a good thing.

Mr. William Lee of Chicago was here the other day looking for his son Henry, from whom he had not heard for a year. We added the corner to look over his books, and it was discovered that the missing Henry was missing under a tree over on Wolf creek. He got all mixed up on horses about six months ago.

We believe that if a thousand remarkable young women were brought out here from the east each and every one of them could find a husband within a week. We also believe that if a thousand young men were brought out here from the west each and every one of them could find a wife within a week. We also believe that if a thousand young men were brought out here from the west each and every one of them could find a wife within a week.

We did intend to be about our circulation this week, but one thing and another has happened to cut our mind elsewhere. We intend for next week we have got a hair raised of a statement coming out at the moment is enough to say that we are hitting the billion mark again and that the empire of China is writing us private letters and begging our advice as to how to run her old empire.

On Tuesday evening last at the meeting of the common council Alderman Fineman, droned on raving that an amendment to a motion must be voted on first, and he started to draw to uphold his contention. He was slow, awkward, and when he found that he had been covered he sat down and sighed. The mayor who can't run a council with Cushing's Manual and a gun is a dead failure.

Our esteemed contemporary, whom we have not mentioned for the past two months, claims to have shot at us last Friday night as we were retiring from a party on Coombe place. Perhaps he did. This is the first we have heard of the affair, but we don't want to write a single leaf in his laurel crown.

Advertisements for the Kicker in tended for our New Zealand edition of half a million should be handed in early in the week to assure publication. Copper mine advertisements should be written in such a way that they cannot be spotted as swindles at the first glance.

On the route to Grass Valley the snow is still from twenty to thirty feet deep in spots, but it is hoped that by July it will have settled down so that a tall man on a tall horse can make reasonably fair going of it. The post writer attended strictly to business for a hundred miles around Givthead Gulch. There are ladies still hanging to some men's whiskers.

As Jim Helbo, owner of the Helbo Opera House, we wish to give the boys notice that next time they shoot out the benzene lamps, the performance on the stage will be stopped and the house closed for the night. We don't object to shooting at the lamps on broad and general principles, but when it is for the purpose of making a business way not do it? We do not like to see things run eternally in one groove.

A subscriber to Illinois who is evidently a minister of the gospel writes us that he shall certainly stop his paper unless future numbers show a more frank and humble spirit on our part. We do not wish to lose him, but just let him come out here and practice the meek and humble business for a month. The boys are waiting for just such a person to coach along. We want to make sure of his ears. We started in to be very meek and lowly, but soon discovered that we must either change or become a lead mine.

Colonel Grant of the Circle ranch stopped his paper last week and sent us an insulting message because we refused to publish his sale to Cuba. As soon as we got time we shall ride out to the ranch, and we will let two to one that we make the colored cowboy from his position. Columbus is all right in history, but we'll hang if he's going to get any free advertising out of us at this late day.

We are delivering our lecture on how to become a great officer wherever we have a call. It consists mostly of our personal experiences, and the humor and pathos appeal to all. Our terms are $25 and expenses, and we guarantee to satisfy an audience that any man with a fair overview and $20 in cash can in time become a great metropolitan editor and claim three or four million circulation for his daily. We sing no songs and execute no dances as an accompaniment. Straight talk and cash down.

If the individual who keeps sending us postal cards from Santa Fe to the effect that he is on our trail and bound to wipe us out will come along and have the circus over with, we will guarantee to pay his expenses. We hate to shiver for three or four months in anticipation. Any one will point out the error to him in his arrival. On entering turn to the right. As soon as entering the sanctum begin to shoot at the man at the desk.

Niagara Falls Excursion.

The Publishing fraternity of Chicago, under the auspices of the Chicago and Suburban Publishers Association, will make a trip to Niagara Falls this summer. The Wabash Railroad has granted special rates; tickets for the trip, including a special train, with the best of service, are sold for $12. A trip to Toronto, Can., on the river, is also under the program. The trip will be made under the direction of a competent guide, who is thoroughly familiar with the great falls, and special rates on the George railroad, the steamers and other conveyances, as well as the hotel at Buffalo and the Falls, have been secured. The train will leave Chicago at midnight on Friday the 12th of July, and returning will arrive in Chicago Tuesday morning, July 15th. Everybody who desires to make the trip is welcome. Last fall it is certain that Secretary Taft would have taken the position expected and would have directed that this matter be left to the towns to regulate. The local option solution of the problem would doubtless have proved popular among the Cubans.

My Best Friend.

Alexander Benton, who lives on Rural Road 1, Fort Edward, N. Y., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is my best earthly friend. It cured me of asthma six years ago. It has also performed a wonderful cure of incipient consumption for my son's wife. The first bottle ended the terrible cough, and this accomplished, the other symptoms left me by one, until she was perfectly well. Dr. King's New Discovery's power over coughs and colds is simply marvelous." No other remedy has ever equalled it. Fully guaranteed by the Barrington Pharmacy. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A snake's egg has a thick covering, very tough and flexible. The species that lay eggs deposit them in groups of ten or a dozen in the earth in places of decaying vegetable matter and other similar places, where the eggs hatch without any further care or attention from the parents.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors but no benefit resulted. By chance we read of Electric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed its improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at Barrington Pharmacy. 50c.

IMPROVING ILLINOIS.

Cuban Capital Is to Be Put into Better Sanitary Shape.

WORK OF OUR GOVERNMENT.

Plans For Paving and Sewering the City to Be Executed—To Be Co-ordinated—Erection of Monument to Spanish General.

Havana is to be put in proper hygienic condition before the provisional government, through which the United States is temporarily administering the affairs of the republic of Cuba, is replaced by a Cuban and wholly independent administration. The Washington correspondent of the New York Post, to this course the Washington government is irrevocably committed. The first step in that direction will be the paving and sewerage of the Cuban capital. Since his return from Havana Secretary Taft has held several conferences with the attorneys of a construction company in the effort to settle the long pending questions growing out of the company's contract for doing this work. As a result of these conferences representatives of the company have gone to Havana to make up with Provisional Governor Macozou and Colonel Black, the officer in charge of public works, the details of the contract, which now requires modification because of the long delay in its execution.

Objection has been raised by the people of Havana in the past to the carrying out of this or any other contract for the paving and sewerage of their capital on the ground that the work was extravagant and unnecessary. When the contract was let, this was the objection they offered, and they do not appear to have changed their point of view since that time.

Another reason advanced in opposition to this hygienic measure in the last few years is that the city of Havana is not financially in a condition to shoulder the burden of this project, and yet the finances of the city are certainly not so straitened as to stand the strain today that they were when the contract was let. Furthermore, the Cuban treasury is in excellent condition, and it has always been understood that assistance could be expected from this source in defraying the cost of the work. It is estimated that about five years will be required for the completion of the project, and all payments which fall due in the next two years or more could certainly be paid.

Justly how the work is to be financed is a question yet to be settled. One way out of the difficulty would be for the island government to advance the funds necessary to supplement those obtained by means of taxation in the past. The issuance of city bonds has been suggested, but the plan may prove impracticable. It is unlikely that the beginning of the work will be delayed until the details of the financial questions involved are worked out.

Cockfighting will not be permitted in Cuba under the American regime. This has proved a troublesome question, and it has become involved a great popular movement which was in favor of leaving the regulation or suppression of the sport to the towns of the country. The present method of dealing with the subject, and it was supposed that Secretary Taft would favor the same method of control in Cuba that he adopted in the Philippines, while he was chief governor. Had the question of cockfighting been a new one, and had it been permitted by law at the time the provisional government was desired, the law would have been enacted.

It is certain that Secretary Taft would have taken the position expected and would have directed that this matter be left to the towns to regulate. The local option solution of the problem would doubtless have proved popular among the Cubans.

Instead of being a new question, the provisional government found that throughout the four years' life of the republic the congress had never repealed the military order issued by General Wood as an executive order which forbade cockfighting throughout the island. As soon as Secretary Taft was made aware of the history of this matter he determined to maintain the status quo. He refused to discuss the question whether cockfighting was more cruel than other pastimes which prevail in Anglo-Saxon countries. Such a discussion was not necessary to his decision. The position of the Washington government as defined by the secretary was that a provisional government could hardly be justified in repealing a law which had been in force for four years.

When the question was recently presented to Secretary Taft whether the United States would consent to the erection of a monument to the memory of one of the distinguished Spanish generals who served in Cuba when the provisional government was desired, honor be promptly called Governor Macozou that the American government, against whom the general fought, certainly had no objection to the erection of a monument to his memory, and he expressed the belief that the "high courtesy" of the Cuban people would lead them heartily to acquiesce in and approve the government's proposed course in granting the necessary permission. The consent of the authorities to the erection of the memorial has probably done more than any other one thing to win the sympathy of the Spaniards in the island for the aims of the provisional government. Although Havana is the Cuban capital, the memorial will include 100 Spaniards and only about 17,000 Cubans.

A Narrow Escape.

G. W. Cloyd, a merchant, of Plunk, Mo., had a narrow escape four years ago, when he ran a jimson bur into his thumb. He says: "The doctor wanted to amputate it but I would not consent. I bought a box of Backler's Arnica Salve and that cured the dangerous wound."—Chicago Pharmacy.

Made Him Pious.

"Oh, yes, we are engaged to be married, but I fear she has not that confidence in me that comes with perfect love."

"Why not?"

"Well, when a fellow looks back as a fellow in love naturally will, you know—and sees her testing the diamond on her engagement ring on the window pane don't you think he has good cause to feel a bit dubious?"

Don't Be Odd.

If other people, whose incomes are no greater than your own, were not already subscribers to our service there might be some reason why you should not have a telephone in your home.

Dangerous Diving.

Drowning is a quicker death than most people suppose. Insensibility is said to begin in about one minute, and fatal unconsciousness generally supervenes in the neighborhood of two minutes. Few even practiced divers can remain under water more than a minute and a half, and it is generally fatal to remain beneath the surface longer than that. At Narvator, where there are many expert divers, who plunge into the sea after sponges, not one was found who could remain under water for two minutes. In the Red Sea the Arab divers generally remain down one and a quarter minutes, while at Ceylon the pearl fishers can seldom stay below for even a minute. There is a case on record at Plymouth where a diver had descended eighty feet and on giving the signal was drawn up slowly. It was two minutes before he reached the surface. Blood ran from his ears and nose, and he was insensible. He died without speaking. Insensibility, however, does not always involve death, for in many cases a person may be resuscitated by London Saturday Review.

Bird Intelligence.

Ever notice how the birds sit on the telephone wires and twitter? They enjoy it. For a few cents per day you may sit at the end of a telephone wire and talk to neighbors and friends.

Screwdrivers.

Some of the best screwdrivers are made from without cost spindles. In days gone by these without spindles were thrown on to old iron heap and left to rust until they were sold for old metal. Then somebody thought of grinding one end into a wedge and fastening the other. Result, a screwdriver of the best quality and a large percentage of extra profit for the cotton spinners.
