A good recipe for an antiseptic mouth wash is one part of turpentine, twelve parts of benzoic acid, sixty parts of the tincture of eucalyptus, three parts of oil of peppermint and 400 parts of alcohol. Add a few drops to a glass of water and use for rinsing the mouth at night and morning.

Description of Tenancy.

A Dorchester farmer writes as follows to the Standard: "A recent legal complication led me to look up the records of my family, and I think the result will interest your readers. "Lama tenant farmer in this country, where my family has been settled for many centuries, and I knew that our connection with our present holding had existed for many generations. Through hunting up records of the case I referred to, however, I became sufficiently interested to undertake a more serious search than I had at first intended. I found that my ancestors have held practically the same tract of land since the year 1004. Beyond that I could find nothing, but very possibly if records existed I think they would show that we were connected with the place even before that date." - London Standard.

Always the Politician.

A Germantown woman was not long ago watching a workman as he put up new window fixtures in her house. "Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" asked she, having reference to the curtain rolls just put in place.

The workman, a stolid German, made no reply, but continued to adjust the fixtures.

"Didn't you hear my question?" demanded the lady of the house. "How dare you be so rude?"

Whereupon the German gripped contentedly and then replied in the gentlest of voices:

"I had my mouth full of screws, and I could not speak till I swallowed some!" - Harper's Weekly.

A Week Brother.

Penn had a very strong aversion to tobacco. Once he came unexpectedly upon some of the Friends who were enjoying the fragrant weed, but out of respect for their great leader they hid their pipes, which, however, still continued to emit smoke. Perceiving this, the governor said pleasantly, "Well, friends, I am glad to see that you are at last ashamed of your old practice."

"Not entirely so," replied one of the brethren, "but we preferred laying down our pipes to the danger of offending a weaker brother." - Westminster Gazette.

Not to Be Deceived.

"The station at a certain city," says a traveler, "is surrounded in all directions by a lot of saloons and cheap restaurants. In great illuminated letters over one of these saloons was the sign:

"Open all night."

"Next to it was a restaurant bearing with equal prominence the legend, 'We never close.'"

"Third in order was a Chinese laundry in a little tumble-down hotel, and upon the front of this building was the sign in great scrawling letters, 'We wake too.'"
