BEAVE RIGS IN STEUBENVILLE SAVE VICTIMS OF A MOB.

TWO ARE SHOT IN FRISCO

Street Car Employees, Attacked by Union Labor Men During the Parade, Use Pistols to Save Their Lives.

Steubenville, O.—A labor day riot that had fair to end in a tragedy had it not been for the bravery of two young women employed in the telephone exchange, occurred here Monday afternoon. The victims of the crowd's rage were Joseph Harrison, who received a fractured skull, and John Hatton, who was cut and bruised, while in shielding the men Misses Mary Magee and Eula Rooke were wounded and bruised about the head and body and are in a serious condition.

Harrison and Hatton came here from St. Louis to work in a mine where a strike is in progress. Monday as they left the telephone office they were set upon by a crowd, and were being badly beaten when the two girls rushed into the thick of the crowd and, frantically pushing and pushing their way through about 50 men, reached the victims, to whom the young women were strangers.

The girls threw themselves on the prostrate men, protecting their heads and receiving on their own bodies the kicks and blows of the mob. One of the men, who was wielding a piece of iron struck Miss Magee on the head. Another piece of iron almost broke Miss Rooke's arm.

Finally police reached the scene and rescued Harrison and Hatton. Only one arrest was made. Harrison was removed to the mayor's office, where later to Gill hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured.

Blood Flows in Frisco.
San Francisco.—The labor union parade Monday resulted in the shooting of two men by employees of the United Railroads at noon. The car men were attacked by the paraders and the self-defense opened fire. The trouble started at Ferry, where it is stated a Sutter street car broke through the line of parade. A mob of labor union men followed and attacked the car. The motorist, seeing that his life was in danger, opened fire and wounded one of his assailants in the leg.

A block further up an inspector was attacked by the mob. He drew a pistol, aimed at a labor union man who carried bricks in his hands and shot him through the groin.

Quiet Day in Chicago.
Chicago.—Union labor in Chicago celebrated Labor day in rest and recreation. There were no down-town parades with brass bands and hours of marching through dusty or muddy streets. Several of the local unions gave picnics at various parks in the city, but there was no official program of entertainment. Warner was the army of workers passed the day in their homes, in the city parks or on lake trips. The principal picnics were held by the Building Trades council and by Engineers' union No. 3.

PUBLIC PRINTER PRAISED.
President Considers Him Efficient and Honest, Says Loeb.

Oyster Bay, N. Y.—Recent public rumors that Public Printer Stillings had displeased the president and was to be supplanted, were the occasion Sunday for the issuance of a statement complimentary to Mr. Stillings by Secretary Loeb.

"The president has not the faintest idea of displacing Mr. Stillings," said Secretary Loeb. "It follows as a matter of course that in bringing order out of the utter chaos that had existed in the government printing office, a certain amount of ill feeling would be aroused on the part of the disgruntled employees."

"The president feels that Mr. Stillings has discharged his duties with courage, efficiency and honesty, and that he has not been a penny on a second under the sun," Secretary Loeb said. "Instead of being criticized, Mr. Stillings is entitled to great credit for what he has accomplished and he continues to have the president's entire confidence."

RICHARD MANSFIELD DEAD

FOREMOST ACTOR OF AMERICA HAS PASSED AWAY.

Death Not Unexpected—Family Are at His Residence at New London, Conn., When the End Comes.

New London, Conn.—Richard Mansfield, the best known actor on the American stage, passed away at six a. m. Friday at his summer residence, Stone Oaks, Ocean Avenue. Death was directly due to disease of the liver, aggravated by complications. Dr. A. H. Allen, a local physician, who has been in charge since Mr. Mansfield returned from Saratoga Lake, N. Y., states that death was not entirely unexpected, although this fact had not been made public.

There were present at the time of his death his wife, his brother, Paul, his young son, George Gibbs, and the physicians and nurses.

The intense nervous strain under which Richard Mansfield worked caused a complete breakdown last spring while he was playing an engineer in Scranton, Pa., though he had been in poor health for some time. He recovered sufficiently to enable him to make a voyage to Europe. The English climate failed to benefit the actor and several weeks ago he returned to this country and went to Amherst, Mass., where he was to play at the English club. Mr. Mansfield longed to be at his home in New London, Conn., and several days ago he was taken there in his private car.

New London, Conn.—All day Sunday the body of Richard Mansfield lay in a coffin in the room in which the actor died. Monday the funeral services will be held at 13 O'clock, at the Episcopal church, where there will be no address. The choir of St. James church will sing the hymn, "Lead, Kind and Gentle God."

Following a brief period during which the features of the dead actor will be viewed by the assemblage, a funeral procession will be formed for the burial place in Garden cemetery, which is across the street from Mansfield home. The honorary pallbearers will be Commander John Parker, U. S. N.; Webster Jewett, Robert Appleton, H. Stevens, Paul Willstach, Colonel A. C. Tyler, Roland P. Keasby and Dr. William P. Appleton.

WARNER STILL FIGHTS.
Pension Commissioner to Appeal Victory of His Stomper in Will Case.

Clinton, Ill.—There is general rejoicing here over the decision of Judge Cochran that Mrs. Isabella Robinson Warner, stepmother of Vespa Warner, United States commissioner of reindeer, has no claim in her veins, did not deceive her husband, and is entitled to dower and homestead rights in the estate of Dr. Warner. The court held that at the time she married Dr. Warner was worth $160,000. The effect of the decision is that an appeal will be carried, and it will give widow the old Warner homestead in Clinton, $20,000, and an annual income of $10,000.

Commissioner Warner, who as executor of his father's estate was defendant in the suit, conceded whatever charges he felt over the defeat of his efforts to prevent his stepmother from inheriting her share of his father's estate. "There would have been an appeal in any case," he said. "Now, I shall carry it vigorously to the supreme court." He said he was still convinced his stepmother's father was a negro.

'MIDDIES' UNDER ARREST

SCALED WALLS TO DINE WITH CHORUS GIRLS.

Hilarious Time at Bath, Md., May Lead to Ousting of Four Officers.

Annapolis, Md.—Superintendent Badger's recommendation to President Roosevelt for the dismissal of four "middles," one of whom is a member of the first class, has caused much talk in Annapolis. The youths are under arrest and confined in their rooms.

Two of the cadets, who are upper classmen, broke the discipline of the academy on the recent summer cruise. The other two offenders are "plebes" of the type known as "middles" among "bligers"—boys who dropped back a class and reentered the fourth class a second time. Nothing has been heard from the president or the navy department of Capt. Badger's recommendation for dismissal of the four midshipsmen.

It is learned that the culprits participated in and were understood to be the leaders of an "above party" at Bath, Me., while the ships of the practice squadron were at anchor off that place. The return to the ship was delayed, and there is said to have been considerable disorder among the youths as a result of too frequent indulgence in something stronger than water.

The Devil's Auction. With a spectacular chorus of beauty, was the bill at the local theater that night. The show was enjoyable, the supper afterwards was good, and the stay from under the sheltering care of superior officers was prolonged. In fact, day was approaching when the two "plebes" returned to quarters by way of the water to find that their absence had been noted in the conduct report. It is said that since forwarding his recommendations for the dismissal of the four youths to the president, Capt. Badger has been unable to give him three reasons why they should not be dismissed. This, it is said, was conveyed to the incarcerated "middles" Saturday, and the reply has not been turned in.

In connection with the alleged after-theater party it will be remembered that Capt. Badger, since assuming charge of the academy, has held several conferences with Mayor Charles of Annapolis, with a view of breaking up this and similar practices through cooperation between the city and federal authorities.

BLACK HUNDREDS CHECKED.
Massacres Stopped by Action of Bankers and Exporters.

Odesa.—The Black Hundreds Tuesday suffered a severe blow by the closing of the grain bourse and the threat of the bankers to suspend financial transactions as a protest against the anti-Semitic outrages of September 2, when three men were killed and from 50 to 60 wounded. The disorders of last February were followed by similar steps, and financial transactions were then practically suspended.

A deputation of exporters called on the governor general Tuesday, and demanded that the authorities take action against the rioters, saying that if they did not, the exporters would leave Russia. The governor general assured the deputation that the police officials would suppress the raids of the Black Hundreds.

Woman Murdered in Faud.
Clarkburg, W. Va.—Mrs. Fred Pickett, wife of the manager of the Bijou theater, was shot through the heart and instantly killed Tuesday afternoon, it is alleged, by Thomas Hannon, of the firm of Hannon & Murray, saloonkeepers. The shooting occurred near Mrs. Pickett was staying. Hannon immediately surrendered himself to the officers. A family feud of long standing is said to have been the cause of the crime. Mrs. Pickett was from Ohio City, Pa.

MANAGER SAW THE POSSIBILITIES IN THE SITUATION.

NOT THE TIME TO STOP.

Manager Saw the Possibilities in the Situation.

John Johnston, the famous baseball umpire, said recently in New York that baseball crowds were far kinder to umpires than they used to be.

"This is true of theater crowds, too," said Mr. Johnston. "Why, of provincial touring companies in the past, maltreatment was regularly expected. In fact, the companies professed to be in a state of starvation by it in some way."

"I know of a company that was playing 'The Broken Yew' in Paint Rock, a one night stand. The audience didn't like 'The Broken Yew,' and eggs, cabbage and potatoes rained upon the stage."

"Still the play went on. The hero raved through his endless speeches, dodging a crowd of baseball every other minute, and pretty soon from those missiles that he hadn't been able to dodge."

"At last a gallery auditor in a paroxysm of rage and anger hurled a heavy boot, and the actor, thoroughly alarmed, started to retreat."

"Keep on playing, you fool," hissed the manager from the wings, as he looked on with a wretched smile. "Keep on till we get the other one."

PREScriptions IN LATIN.

The Public Should Have Them Translated by the Druggists.

What virtue is there in the secrecy with which the doctor hedges about his profession? "Professional etiquette" occupies a prominent place in the curriculum of every medical school, and when strictly analyzed "professional etiquette" seems to mean "doing what is best for the doctor, individually and collectively."

Among the things that "is best for the doctor" is the writing of his prescriptions in Latin, and thus keeping the public in ignorance not only of what it is taking for its ills, but forcing a call upon the doctor each time a prescription is needed.

In plain and unmistakable English the writing of prescriptions in Latin makes business for the doctor.

Let us say that you have the ague. You had it last year and the year before. Each time you have visited the doctor and he has prescribed for you what he has given you for the disease, and so each time you are forced to go to him again and give him an opportunity to repeat his prescription—in Latin, and his fee in dollars.

If you ask the doctor why he uses Latin in writing his prescriptions, why he writes "agua" when he means water, he will give you a technical dissertation on the purity of the Latin language, and the fact that all words are derived from it, etc. It will be a dissertation that you may not be able to answer, but it will hardly convince you.

It would be a good thing for the public to devise a little code of ethics of its own; ethics that will be a good thing for the public individually and collectively.

Let us apply one of the rules of this code of ethics to you, the individual.

You call on the physician when you have the ague, and he prescribes for you the other ill to which human flesh is heir, and which you may again make some day. The doctor prescribes in Latin, and you take this, to you, meaningless scribble to the druggist to have it compounded. Right here is where you come in, if you are wise. Say to the druggist that you want a translation of that prescription. It is your right to know what you are taking. While the doctor's code of ethics may not recognize this right it is yours just the same.

With the translated prescription in your possession you have two distinct advantages. You know what you are taking, and should you wish to call some other doctor at some time you will be able to tell him what drugs you have been putting into your system, and also if you should have the same disease again you can save yourself a visit to the doctor, and his fee, by taking his translated prescription to the druggist once more and having it refilled.

APPEAL THAT WAS HEHEED.
Judge Must Also Have Been Follower of the Gentle Art.

John Quincy Adams, of Massachusetts, third of that name, who died about ten years ago, was very fond of balling, and not especially fond of the regular game of the Boston Red Eprunns, of Vienna, lost jewels which were reported to the police as being worth $18,000. There were many American sports at the same hotel, but apparently they did not lose anything.

Seven Killed in Train Wreck.
Charleston, W. Va.—Chesapeake & Ohio local train was derailed a mile below Kanawha Falls Monday night. Seven persons were killed and 17 injured.

HE HAD TO HAVE FRUIT.

Grapes Beyond His Power, Boy Took Home Substitute.

James Wilson, the secretary of agriculture, was discussing in Washington the aid which his department gives the American farmer. He pointed out the benefit that had been derived from the introduction of darning wool of the wheat-testing machine, and of the method of extracting potato from grapes.

"In fact," said Mr. Wilson, smiling, "I know that eventually our finest products will be cheap enough to be within the reach of all. Then the story of the boy and the hot-house grapes will be as dead and antiquated as the best of stories of the past."

"This boy—was a bootblack—entered a grocer's store one day, and, pointing to some superb grapes, said: 'What's the price of them there, mister?'"

"One dollar a pound, my lad," the clerk replied.

"A look of anguish passed over the boy's face, and he said, hastily: 'Then give us a cent's worth of carrots. I'm dead now on fruit.'"

CHILDREN TORTURED.

Girl Had Returned Sore from Exema—By Torturing by Poison Ointment—Both Cured by Cuticura.

"Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of exema, I resorted to the Cuticura Remedies, and was so well pleased with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced with the Cuticura Remedies, her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In about six weeks we had her completely well, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble."

In July of this year a little boy in our family poisoned his hands and arms with poison oak, and in twenty-four hours his hands and arms were a mass of terrible sores. We used only the Cuticura Remedies, and in about three weeks his hands and arms healed up. Mrs. Lizzie Vincent Thomas, Fairmont, Wajlen's Ridge Tenn., Oct. 13, 1905.

Pointed Conversation.

"Jack, if I am going away," "Going away, Madam?" "Yes, going away. But before I go I have something to say to you." "Something to say to me, little wife?" "Yes, something to say to you. Don't send me any poker stories in lieu of the weekly remittance. That'll be about all."
