Boni grows desperate as his meal ticket vanishes.
Do you know what an "id-determi-ant-biologic hypothesis" is? Neither do we.

Now is the time for the patient Filipinos to turn the other cheek to the sugar trust.

It was poor management to pull off a total eclipse where hardly anybody could see it.

With what is left of the million dollars, doubtless the earl of Yarmouth will be able to get on for awhile without a wife.

Nearly three billion people were carried by the railroads in 1906, some of them were delivered undamaged at their destinations.

A Denver girl has become the bride of a Pueblo chief who cannot speak English. Perhaps she will have a time among the Indians.

Thirteen women's clubs have voted not to trim their hats with the plume of Mrs. That is a lucky number for the feathered sonneters.

The Japanese have all they can do to look after their lives at home in a time of profound peace. They are getting automobiles by the cargo.

Argentine farmers just now are busy hauling a big wheat crop to market. Automobile drummers should pack their grips for South America.

A French inventor now claims to be able to send photographs by wireless telegraphy. What would a sudden wind storm do to Gov. Hughes' whiskers?

Among the nearest things we remember to living music heretofore has been the crying of a baby at 2, a, m, as the patient father walked the chilly floor.

Really, Count Boni is a man of spirit. He will make faces at the prince or do something equally dreadful if the latter dares to marry his former wife.

A moving picture machine exploded in Canton and 200 Chinese lost their lives in the resulting panic. Civilization is dangerous unless one knows how to handle it.

Prince Hoile Jo Sagan proves as costly a piece of bric-a-brac as did his cousin, the count. It will keep the Western Union and the Wabash humming to run the show.

The Chinese Imperial telegraph had net earnings during 1906 of $645,537 on a working capital of $1,232,000. Evidently the Standard Oil Company isn't the only thing on earth, after all.

Sixteen soldiers in Spain were arrested as plotters against Alfonso because they visited a newspaper office. They will get off soon, free of course, if they declare they called to whip the editor.

Ocean-going ships soon will be fitted with all the comforts of home. About the only thing that will be missed in the villages and maybe steamship proprietors will be dragging that to next.

A Newark man was fined $20 for laughing at a policeman. In most cities the majority of the law considers itself sufficiently vindicated when it has beaten the miserable one over the head with a club.

There is in Berlin an artist who is going to marry a widow with $5,000. This is exceedingly queer. Perhaps some delightful heiress and to the gayety by bestowing her hand and fortune upon some struggling poet.

A California architect predicts that we shall soon have 10-story buildings. If his prediction is verified it will be necessary for our fellow citizen to build some pretty tall stacks if they expect to keep us choking with smoke.

Science has harnessed the potato bug, as it were, and is making it do stunts in the interests of humanity. That is grand, sweet revenge for all the miserable hours it has brought to boys who had to "bug" water when the fishing in the branch was fine.

Defects of speech such as stammering are prevalent in Germany that the government is said to have instituted a campaign against them by establishing a special department in the medical college of the University of Berlin, both for the cure of such impediments and for educating doctors how to treat them. Perhaps the suggestion is unkind, and the Baltimore American, but would not it be more readily disposed of by going to the root of the matter and adopting a new language—one easier to get the tongue around?

Beetings, mustard-packs, and other uncommon remedies for rheumatism will have to take second place, in the matter of oddities, to a cure discovered in Australia. A whale, stranded on the beach at a health resort, had been cut open, and a freakish invader plunged into the blood, remained there two hours, and found himself free from rheumatism when he crawled out. The incident seems to be touched for, and although the prescription is more novel than enticing, probably many sufferers would like to catch a whale and try it.

MRS. McDONALD FREE

CHICAGO MURDER TRIAL ENDS IN VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL.

IS APPLAUDED BY CROWD

Widow of the Noted King of Gamblers Breaks Down When Jury Finds Her Not Guilty.

Chicago.—Mrs. Dora McDonald, widow of Michael McDonald, king of Chicago gamblers, was declared Tuesday afternoon not guilty of the murder of Webster Guerin, the artist who was killed in his studio in the Omaha building, February 21, 1907.

The crowd that filled the courtroom testified its approval of the jury's finding with an outburst that the court quickly checked.

There was a big crowd in Judge Brennan's courtroom when it was learned that a McDonald, heavily veiled and accompanied by her nurse, Miss Amanda Beck, was assisted into the room and seated in a seat—the same one she has occupied since the beginning of the trial—in the listless manner that has marked her demeanor from the first day.

There were many of her relatives as well as relatives of the Guerin family in court, and they all sat together on the other side of the courtroom behind the press table.

There was a brief delay while Judge Brennan took his seat on the bench, looking tired with the strain of the long trial, which has lasted nearly a month.

"Sit in the jury," said the judge brusquely, and the bailiff opened the door for the 12 men to file in. They entered the courtroom and took their seats. The bailiff walked across the room and took from the foreman the folded paper. He passed back to where Clerk Carter stood at the left of Judge Brennan and handed the paper up to him.

"Infoling it rapidly, Carter in a single breath read the verdict "not guilty," and sat down.

Mrs. McDonald Breaks Down. Then a smothered sob broke the intense silence. And then all semblance of order disappeared for a few minutes. The attorneys for the prosecution and her aide surrounded her. She sank back utterly helpless. In the courtroom excitement raged for a moment and then the repeated rattling of the gavel of half a dozen bailiffs brought order back.

"Clear the courtroom," was Judge Brennan's order, and while Mrs. McDonald, surrounded by her lawyers, was shielded from the gaze of the spectators, the crowd passed slowly from the room.

Almost immediately afterward Judge Brennan left the bench and retired to the room of the court, still surrounded by a few words of appreciative thanks for their long and arduous service.

RECEIVER FOR A VILLAGE.

Result of Tangled Financial Affairs of Cahokia, Ill.

Belleveille, Ill.—Judge B. R. Burroughs presiding in circuit court here Saturday granted the petition of the Federal Union Security company of Indianapolis, Ind., to receive the village of Cahokia from further acting as supervisor of the village and common fields of Cahokia and from collecting rentals from the tenants of acres of valuable lands of that historic settlement. Frederick B. Morrill is receiver of the village.

The court order results from an effort to readjust the affairs of the village, which were entangled as a result of the alleged failure of Supervisor Anthony Bordeaux, who served the village from 1882 to 1892, to turn over to his successor, his successor, $20,000 collected in rentals.

This is the first time in the history of Illinois courts that a receiver has been named for a village or city. The office of supervisor of Cahokia was created in 1872 and has been continued since with the same powers.

Rejected Lover Slays. Park Rapids, Minn.—Bessie Graham, aged 21, teacher of a rural school at Carsonville, near here, was shot and instantly killed by a rejected lover, Charles Holt, Monday afternoon. After killing the girl, Holt shot himself, inflicting a fatal wound.

The double tragedy was enacted in the town of Thaw and Mr. O'Reilly visited Thaw Friday, when the contemplated visit to Poughkeepsie was discussed.

Mrs. Gault Escapes Guillotine. Monte Carlo.—The death sentence against Mrs. Ernest Gault, who with her husband, Vern, had been convicted of the murder of Emma Levin here last summer, has been commuted to imprisonment for life.

Leavenworth to Try Galveston Plan. Leavenworth, Kan.—After a bitter campaign lasting a week and a half Tuesday, by a majority of approximately 600, adopted a commission form of government patterned after that of Galveston.

GRAND LARCENY IS CHARGE

NEW YORK GRAND JURY INDICTS FORMER MARGATE DUE TO LAND FROM EUROPE SATURDAY—BAIL TO BE FIXED AT $20,000.

New York.—The grand jury for New York, which has been investigating certain business transactions involving some of the banks with which Charles W. Morse, the organizer of the American Ice company and the Consolidated Steamship company, until recently was identified, returned five indictments Monday. Three of those indictments had to do with liquor tax cases, while two indictments charged grand larceny.

The indictments were not made public, but in asking that goods seized last Monday be returned, District Attorney Jerome stated to the court that the two charges of grand larceny were based upon a "man now on his way over here" from Europe. Following the court proceedings it was stated authoritatively that the man referred to by Mr. Jerome was Charles W. Morse, who sailed for Liverpool a week or two ago, and who is now in New York, but is now returning upon the advice of his counsel.

Mr. Morse is a passenger on the Commodore Express, due here late next Saturday. The grand jury, it is learned, has ordered, other indictments, in connection with its investigation into banking affairs.

When the jury appeared before Justice Dowling in the supreme court District Attorney Jerome said:

"Your honor, two of those papers in that batch are indictments on which I would like to have bail fixed. I would suggest $20,000 on one of them and nothing on the other."

"Justice Dowling looked through the indictments and replied to Mr. Jerome: "I suggest that bail be fixed at $10,000 on each of them."

"This was agreeable to Mr. Jerome. Among the matters which the grand jury looked into was a transaction in which two notes for $200,000 figured.

FINANCIER ENDS TROUBLES.

Frank W. Gould Kills Self at Moline, Ill., by Shooting.

Moline, Ill.—Frank W. Gould, president of the Union Malleable Iron Company and president of the board of trustees of the Western Illinois hospital for the insane at Watertown, committed suicide in his bedroom Saturday by shooting himself in the mouth. The suicide was brought about by heavy financial difficulties that had accumulated about the company.

"Clear the courtroom," was Judge Brennan's order, and while Mrs. McDonald, surrounded by her lawyers, was shielded from the gaze of the spectators, the crowd passed slowly from the room.

CARE OF THE KITCHEN.

Clean Walls Are an Essential to Sanitary Cooking.

It is not only important to know how to cook, but it is equally important to know where to cook. Cooking in a dirty kitchen can never produce good food. The kitchen is simply preposterous, yet kitchen walls are left for months—sometimes for years without cleaning.

In the first place the kitchen wall should have a light that the insect feet of dirt can be seen; that the sheers' covers can be brushed away; that the tinest water bug can be discerned. It is all fully expecting clean food in a kitchen with dirty walls.

Never put a wall coating on a kitchen wall that is mixed with hot water or that has glue in it, or some milk in it mixed with cold water. Glue walls made from horses' hoofs (glue) or any cheap coloring do not indicate good housekeeping. The glue is constantly flaking off, falling into the food and the idea of food flavored with glue made from horses' hoofs is not appetizing.

Kitchen walls to be thoroughly satisfactory should be alabastered the same as every other wall in the house. They should be coated regularly in the spring and fall of each year with a light tint.

The care of the pantry requires constant attention. The walls should be brushed over every year, the dishes removed from the shelves which should be thoroughly wiped with hot water. If there are ant holes or any other insects in the pantries a thick coat of the wall coating can be made and all the ant holes, even small mice holes can be filled with it which will protect the pantry from the incurious of disagreeable insects and mice.

An agreement was reached that if Mr. Vitt would cease selling drinks they would cease buying their bread in St. Louis.
