AN ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM.

The program at the Majestic theatre, Chicago, for the week of May 4th promises to be one of the most diversified yet offered during the Spring season. Every act is of the same pure variety and taken as a whole the specialties afford a varied range of really attractive vaudeville. One among hundreds to find a place on the bill is Toby Claude, the dainty little comic opera star, whose odd and racy name is well adapted to her quaintly humorous methods of her sketch. A smart singer and a dancer, and a neat comedienne. A very great novelty will be the Picchianni, a company of ten wonderful acrobats from Italy. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher, long recognized by vaudeville audiences as talented players will fill an important position on the programme. Violet Dale, the American singing impersonator, will offer a number of her brilliant and attractive impersonations. Rice and Prevost will donate a dozen athletic skill and genuine comedy may be found together in the same sketch. Stuart Barnes, a clever monologist and singer of parodies, is another bright star and will assist a dozen other specialists on the bill in making a special holiday for Majestic audiences.

NO TOWN KNOCKERS!

How Coryville Got Rid of a Bunch of Unprogressives.

THE YOUNG MEN ORGANIZED.

And the Croaking Critics Couldn't Stand the Order of Initiation into the Mystical Order of the G. B.'s. A Story of Masks and Spades.

There was something doing in Coryville. The G. B.'s were getting busy. Who were the G. B.'s? Oh, just follow this little story and find out!

For many years Coryville had had on hand an oversupply of citizens whose chief activity had to do with knocking the town. There followed a but a small group, only four or five, but they did harm. Half a dozen more came to spoil the best chosen ever.

"Seems to be something mighty mysterious about it," remarked the chief knocker. "I've seen the members of it."

"Why, one of the members told me," replied the other. "All of which was quite true. It was true also that this member had violated no rule of the G. B.'s. He had been diligent to acquaint the knockers with these primary facts concerning the society. Immediately the knocker in chief had expressed a desire to attend a meeting. He was cordially invited along with his brother knockers."

Without a word the men with picks began to dig, the shovellers began to shovel, while the torch bearers held their lights high above the group. At once the digging was well under way. The G. B.'s started up a dirge-like song of doleful voices. Altogether it was an uncanny scene.

"What was that you fellows up to anyhow?" gasped the chief knocker. "Well, gentlemen, unmask," commanded the supreme scribe. All that was unmasked, revealing the fact that they were the leading young men of Coryville. Then the supreme scribe, who happened to own the grocery store, addressed the knockers chiefly knocked, who were the Grand Buriers. We are digging your graves. For years you have knocked and blocked every movement for the good of our town, and we have decided that Coryville can get along without you. However, we are going to give you a chance. If you will promise solemnly to boost and not to knock a honest man, you may take your own time and die a natural death. But always remember that the Grand Buriers have the tools and that we can dig."

Coryville has no knockers now. BUR JOYCE
