SEARS' GIVE RECITALS

Sears School of Music Give

Recitals This Week,
Tuesday.

By far the best recitals ever given by the Sears School of Music were played in the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon and evening, to which larger numbers of interested people went than ever before, both in Barrington and the other towns near, where programs were given during last week.

Each program was given as announced with most successful results from a musical standpoint and as entertainment.

One particularly noticeable feature was the rendition of all selections without notes, all compositions having been memorized, a proof of musical ability.

The 7th annual commencement exercises were in progress and mark another year of encouraging advancement for this excellent school.

Prize winners of Barrington in their respective departments were Misses Leah Oles, Violet Ulitsch and Irene Keeler, Miss Ulitsch was advanced to the Collegiate Junior department; Miss Louise Boehmer and Lee Brown to the Intermediate Senior.

HAS ONE MORE STAR

Oklahoma's to be Added Tomorrow. Forty-sixth in Old Glory.

UNDER the provisions of an old act of congress Oklahoma's star to be added to the American flag this Fourth of July. Under the provisions of this act a committee of congress appointed the official addition of the new star in a very pretty ceremony, as shown by the accompanying illustration. Though Oklahoma was admitted to statehood by the president's proclamation of Nov. 16, 1907, under a law passed in 1893 the new star could not be added until the Fourth of July following. This law has applied to all states added since the year mentioned.

The little old house in which the "star spangled banner" was made under direction of General Washington in 1776 is the scene of the ceremony. The flag containing forty-six stars. Thirteen girls clad in colonial costumes of white represented the original states, while a boy dressed up as Uncle Sam and another uniformed like a colonel of the Continental army assisted in the ceremony.

Mrs. Betsy Ross, a pretty widow barely twenty-five years old, an artistic needle worker, made the first official flag in that old house. Just before the flag-making on New Year's day the children participating therein assembled in the old house and enacted a tableau representing the making of the original flag. One little girl skilled in needlework took her seat in a chair placed on the very boards where Betsy Ross sat stood before the quaint old fireplace.

Around her were the same quaint white-washed walls that surrounded Betsy Ross in 1776. In her left hand she held an American flag with the blue field of stars. One by one the children entered the room and presented to the seamstress. Little Miss Walbridge, a star which the girl gravely sewed in place on the field.

It is interesting to know that the "star spangled banner" which we see today was not designed by Francis Pickens, as is generally supposed, but by a little girl, entered the room and presented to the seamstress. Little Miss Walbridge, a star which the girl gravely sewed in place on the field.

The charming widow Ross conducted a flagmaking establishment here for a number of years, and her descendants continued the business until the year 1857. Then the house passed into the hands of an old man, who never came round to collect the rent from the Mand family who occupied it. Perhaps he disappeared at sea. Anyhow, he disappeared. The Mand family lived there more than forty years. They sold taxes on the house instead of "Pinney" under the late possession became ownership, and the Memorial Association bought the famous house from Charles P. Mund.

The money for the purchase was contributed by more than a million persons, many of them school children. The price was $25,100, and most of the money consisted of dimes.

An interesting innovation in American political life which accompanies the admission of Oklahoma to statehood is the conferring of full citizenship upon the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes—Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws, Chickasaws and Seminole. These Indians now may vote, run for township constable or president of the United States and exercise any other function of citizenship which is open to a citizen of any state.

Each of these Indians, man, woman and child, is the owner of a considerable acreage of land in the Indian Territory part of Oklahoma. The lands were allotted to them as tribal citizens.

New Illinois Primary Law.

The new Illinois Primary law contains the following provision: "No person shall be allowed to vote at a primary who shall have signed the petition for nomination of a candidate of any party that he does not affiliate with, when such a candidate is to be voted for at the primary."

"And no person shall be allowed to vote who shall have signed the nominating papers of an independent candidate for any office for which office candidates are to be voted for at said primary or if he shall have voted at a primary of another political party within a period of two years next preceding such primary."

Just now petitions of candidates are being widely circulated throughout the state, and it becomes important to remember that if the voter has signed the nomination petition of a candidate of another political party or of an independent candidate, such voter cannot vote at his own party primary on August 8th.

Nearly 1,000 Pianos at Bargain. Lyon & Healy, of Chicago, known every where as the world's largest music house, have just done a remarkable thing. They have bought for cash the entire stocks of three large Chicago piano houses, i. e., The Thompson Music Co., the Healy Music Co., and the big F. G. Thearle Piano Co. In these stocks are the new planes of the highest quality, including such well and favorably known pianos as the Henry F. M. Hardman, Jones & Pond, Smith & Nixon, etc. Lyon & Healy secured all these pianos on such extraordinary terms that they are able to turn around and offer them to the public at 20 to 40 per cent discount.

So here is a chance to get a much better piano for any sum you have in mind than you could ordinarily obtain. Write to-day for the list of pianos in this great triple piano sale, which is an event entirely unprecedented in the history of piano-selling. Address Lyon & Healy, 71 Adams street, Chicago.

For the week of July 10 the bill will be topped by Arthur Dunn and Marie Glazer, who are recitals from musical comedy where they have appeared at the head of big companies.
