STRIVE TO ATTAIN IDEAL

Exercise of Will Power Can Do Much to Cultivate Both the Mind and the Body.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." His opinion of himself will be reproduced by the life processes within him and conveyed to the body, writes Orison Swett Marden in Success. If you would make the most of yourself, resolve to become not anything different from what you would actually have yourself, from the best you are capable of. Whenever you think of yourself, form a mental image of a perfect, healthy, beautiful, noble being, not lacking in anything, the person you wish to become. Positively refuse to see anything about yourself which you would not like to have true.

If we would make the most of our lives, if we would be and do all that it is possible for us to be and to do, we must not only think well of ourselves, but we must also be just to ourselves physically, be good to our bodies. In order to be the highest, the most efficient type of man or woman, it is just as necessary to cultivate the body, to develop its powers, to get positive health and beauty, as it is to cultivate the mind, to raise it to its highest power.

Iron Fence Has Lasted Long.

"No finer example of the durability of iron exists than that railing around Dowling Creek churchyard in Whitehall street patriarch, on the custom house steps, and gazing fondly down on the river.

"That was put there during the stamp riots during the revolution and at the same time a large leaden statue of King George was erected where the middle of Bowling fountain now is. About the time that the ravages of the elements made the statue unsightly, many of some other metal were put on the main posts of the iron fence. These, now have rusted off or been removed in my time, yet that old iron fence stands there as good today as when it was put up 140 years or more ago.

"You see, there has been a slice removed to make room for that subway kiosk. I tried to get it at the time, but was told by the contractors that William Barclay Parsons had had it carted to his own home as a relic."—New York Sun.

Scotch Hangman Strict Sabbatarian.

The last public execution in Scotland took place at Dumfries. The Dumfries and Galloway Courier publishes letters from Calcraft and Askern, the executioners of the day. Calcraft's missives are ill written and ill spelled, but one from Askern exhibits that noble officer in the light of a Sabbatarian. Here is his letter: "If duly received please attend at 8 instant. Doubt not before this you have received my note of the 1st Will bring with me what I require. Have to state in my former note that my charges are strictly uniform, the journey by rail the only difference. As the 12th will be on Tuesday it would necessitate traveling on the Sabbath, which would be objectionable. Please write me, as if I come on Saturday it will incur some additional expense. Pleas, remove any anxiety from the minds of the authorities, as the engagement will be faithfully carried out."

Herbert Spencer's Philosophy.

Herbert Spencer was an enthusiastic billiard player. He says that he found it "a very desirable way of passing the time," because it prevented thinking and excluded the temptation to read. "It suffices for me," he frankly adds, "that I like billiards, and the attainment of the pleasure given I regard as sufficient motive. I have for a long time deliberately set my face against the asceticism which makes it an objection to do a thing for the pleasure of doing it. The opposite view is tending one class to promote sequence of the old devil worship of the barbarian, who sought to please his god by inflicting pain on himself, and believed his god would be angry if he made himself happy."

"Poor Kinsmen" in Luck.

Alderman John Smith of London died in 1647 left by will $5,000 for the relief of captives held by Turkish pirates, and $5,000 for his poor kinsmen. As the succor of Turkish captives became inoperative with the lapse of time, an act passed in 1772 divert. ing all the money to poor kinsmen, who in 1868 were 412. The chancery court, in 1877, stepped in with an order applying all the funds to general charitable purposes, but this decision was reversed on appeal, and the Smiths" were left for the time in the enjoyment of their inheritance, which in 1880—owing to the growth of money —was reckoned to be worth about $35,000 a year.

No Use.

"You say Jones is down and out? Why, it was only a little while ago that he told me he had the key of success."

"He did, but the poor fellow wasn't able to find the keyhole."

Her Weary Query.

"I understand that you owe everything to your wife," said the tactless relative.

"No," answered Mr. Meekton, "but I will if I don't stop playing bridge with her and your mother."

PRESIDENT REFUSES TO QUIT

TAFT IS ASKED TO ABANDON TRUST-BUSTING CAMPAIGN.

Administration Will Proceed Against Corporations Organized on Plan of Standard Oil Company.

Washington.—The administration will immediately begin proceedings against a large number of corporations organized along the same lines as the Standard Oil Company and the American Tobacco Company, if the pending suits in the United States are decided in favor of the government.

This statement was made Monday on high authority as representing the intention of President Taft. So confident is the administration that it will be victorious in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases that agents of the department of justice are now at work making a thorough investigation of many of the corporations against which suits will be filed shortly after the supreme court renders its decision.

Mr. Taft takes the position that no corporation which observes the law need be in the least alarmed, and that if there is any injury to business because infringements of the law are corrected, the injury cannot be permanent.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson in his testimony before the congressional committee which is investigating the rise in the price of foodstuffs in the District of Columbia, Monday declared that American farm products are sold cheaper abroad than they are in this country.

He intimated that the trusts were to blame, but declined to go into any specific explanation, saying the investigation which he is conducting has not yet been completed. He also blamed the high cost of living to this, together with the exorbitant profits demanded by the retail dealers. He prescribed as one remedy for the evil, a return to the farm. More farms, and more intelligent farming, he declared, would greatly remedy conditions.

GETTING THE HORSE LAUGH.

INQUIRY BEGINS THIS WEEK

BALLINGER-PINCHOT QUIZ WILL BE FORMULATED TUESDAY.

Taking of Testimony in Now Famous Case Will Probably Commence Next Friday.

Washington.—The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation will be formulated Tuesday, when the joint congressional committee has another meeting. The exact time for the examination of witnesses and other preliminaries will be arranged.

All the surface work will be outlined, leaving the deep processes for future consideration. It already seems certain that not much can be accomplished until late in the summer, especially if the committee must adjourn and sit in Alaska, where a personal inspection of the coal lands in dispute may be made.

Mr. Nelson will confer with Secretary Ballinger, Gifford Pinchot, Glavis, Shaw and Price over the preliminaries, and will report to the colleagues on Tuesday as to the time needed by the parties to the controversy for the preparation of their briefs, statements and testimony. Many witnesses will be brought to Washington by both sides, and some of those who will testify will come all the way from Alaska.

The impression now is that the taking of testimony will begin on Friday.

GAVE $50,000 TO LEAGUE

Charged in Civil Bill That Three Prominent Chicagoans Obtained $850,000 Railroad Money.

Chicago—Purchases of millions of dollars' worth of real estate for the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad for a new depot and freight yards may be held up pending investigation by State's Attorney Wayman into real estate deals through which Benjamin Thomas, former president of the road; John C. Eckhart and Charles R. Kappes, real estate dealers, are alleged to have obtained $850,000 of the railroad company's money for their own profit.

The three men, two of them representatives of the railroad, are accused of obtaining the real estate they sought by the railroad and then of turning it immediately to the road at prices far above the actual purchase prices and putting the difference in their pockets. Sometimes, according to the bill filed in the civil suit Wednesday, the property was purchased twice what the property cost.

Whether the charges against the men are made the basis for criminal or grand jury State's Attorney Wayman would not say.

Denial of the charges was made by Pelzer and Kappes. The former said all transactions with the road had been made in good faith.

Big Firm Suspends.

New York.—Following the suspension of the firm of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., and J. M. Flake & Co., as a result of the sensational drop on Wednesday of 63 points in the price of the stock of the Columbus & Hocking Coal and Iron Company, president R. H. Thomas of the New York stock exchange shortly after the opening of the exchange Thursday announced the failure of the firm of Roberts, Hall & Co., brokers, with offices at 52 Broadway. In a general way the failure of Roberts, Hall & Co. represented that of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., something like $1,000,000, and that of J. M. Flak & Co., $2,000,000, or about $6,000,000.

GIVES UP ITS DEAD

THIRTY-ONE BODIES RECOVERED FROM CARS IN SPANISH RIVER.

SCORE MORE STILL IN CARS

Total Casualties in Canadian Pacific Wreck Undetermined—More Than 80 Injured Are in Hospitals—Heroic Conductor Saves Eight Passengers.

Sudbury, Ont.—The scene of Friday's Canadian Pacific wreck at Spanish river presented an almost hopeless field of labor for the hundred or more men sent to clear away the debris and recover the victims' bodies. Three big dray loads of coffins were waiting Sunday to receive the bodies of upward of two score victims.

Thirty-one bodies had been recovered Sunday and it is believed there are still a score or more in the submerged cars.

Two of the wrecked cars, the colonist car and the chair car, which whose ventilators were visible above the water, drifted under the bridge during the day and finally were submerged, while chic ice has formed above them, making it difficult to locate them. The dining car is partly submerged in the river, and little remains of the second class coach.

More than thirty injured were taken to the General hospital and the hotels of Sudbury.

The number of bodies lying in the cars may not be known for many days. Among passengers unaccounted for are Rev. Mr. Childhouse, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Alexander Robertson of the Canadian Pacific railroad.

The wreck occurred on a 200-foot steel bridge with concrete piers, over a 30-foot embankment sloping down to the Spanish river, which is unbroken.

The engine and three cars had passed safely upon the bridge when the forward trucks of the second class coach jumped the track and struck an immense steel girder with such force as to snap the girder in two and split the car as if divided with a cleaver. The rear of the second class coach swerved out to one side, pulling the colonist car, first-class coach and chair car off the bridge into the river, tipping over the Pullman beside the others.

In the dining car occurred one of the greatest struggles men ever made to save their lives. The fire call in the dinner had just been made and Conductor Thomas Reynolds left the kitchen, as one of the diners. With him were W. J. Bell, a lumberman of Sudbury; David Brodie, police magistrate of the district of Sudbury, and several others.

In an instant all were in the water above their heads. Reynolds exhorted the passengers to hang on to the hat racks, chandeliers and other projections and, diving into the icy waters, he broke through a window and emerged on the outside of the car.

By the utmost exertion he maintained sufficiently to allow him to get up between the ice and the car. Climbing up to the roof, he reached the imperiled Alfonso Rosset, six years old, of the Canadian Soo, and Frank Matratie Brodie of Sudbury, a small man, through the ventilators. The latter was not long in the air, as available and with almost superhuman strength Reynolds, aided by Rosset, was able, now a hole in the roof, through which eight passengers escaped—all who came out of the car alive, with the exception of Brakeman Morrison, who was at the rear of the car when the wreck occurred, and another man who managed to reach the surface.

Rosset was taken through the roof of the dining car was W. J. Bell of Sudbury. He is resting in his home. Over 30 stitches were required to close his wounds. Police Magistrate Brodie has been broken ribs and his face and scalp are terribly cut. He is confined to the General hospital. Conductor Reynolds was bruised and cut, but was able to return to his home at North Bay. The chef and waiters of the diner were trapped in a small compartment of the car, but were rescued.

Tom Taggart Wounded.

Natchez, Miss.—Thomas Taggart of Indianapolis, Ind., national Democratic committeeman for that state and former national Democratic chairman, was accidentally shot while hunting quail near here by a companion, but it was able to return to his home at North Bay. The chef and waiters of the diner were trapped in a small compartment of the car, but were rescued.

HEINZE GAINS ONE POINT

Former "Copper King" Wins in His Battle to Stop Further Delay in Trial.

New York.—F. Augustus Heinze lost one point and gained another in connection with the pending indictments against him for alleged misapplication of bank funds.

Judge Hough in the United States circuit court denied the application of the former "copper king" for an order requiring the government from securing further indictments on the charge, following the recent quashing of one of the indictments previously found.

The court then decided that Heinze must be brought to trial on the two indictments still pending. The date for the trial was set for March 3.

START BEEF TRUST PROBE

Judge Landis in Instructing Grand Jury, Says He, Not Taft, Began Inquiry.

Chicago. — In one of the most remarkable charges ever delivered to a federal jury Judge Kenesaw M. Landis formally started the probe that is to be made into the alleged combination among the big Chicago packing concerns in restraint of trade.

Excoriating the department of justice at Washington in sizzling language and referring to certain of its members as "governmental fanfarrons," Judge Landis deplored in forceful manner the frequent published recently in the newspapers concerning the plans of federal officials once more to place the "beef trust" under legal fire and seek the conviction of those believed responsible for the combine that is said to exist.

Both disclosures on the part of federal legal officials and the press, he asserted, not only tended to obstruct the orderly administration of justice but also inflicted a wrong upon any individual whose conduct was under scrutiny.

A profound stir was created in the courtroom when Judge Landis informed the members of the grand jury that he reached the determination some time ago to call the attention of that body to "alleged circumstances and conditions" connected with the fresh meat industry.

BANKER ROBBED OF $28,000

Two Women are Held on $30,000 Bond Charged with Holding Up New York Financier.

New York.—Warner M. Van Norden, president of the Van Norden Trust Company was held up and robbed of $28,000 as he was leaving the Waldorf Astoria.

With the arraignment of Beatie Roberts, alias Kitty Dowdell of Chicago, and Grace Williams, alias "Chicago Maggie," Monday came the story of politicness that cost Mr. Van Norden his pocketbook.

Mr. Van Norden left the hotel and was about to enter his motor car when two women walking along Fifth avenue. One of the women dropped a pocketbook and Mr. Van Norden politely picked it up and returned it to the loser. There was a profusion of thanks and bows, and one of the women fainted suddenly and leaned on Mr. Van Norden's shoulder. The woman revived and the banker went home in his machine. The $28,000 was gone when he reached home.

The women have been held in $30,000 bail for further questioning.

Why does Great Britain buy its Bacon?

Certainly it seems like carrying coals to Newcastle to speak of exporting bacon to England and yet, every year the Quaker Oats Company sends hundreds of thousands of cases of Quaker Oats to Great Britain and Europe.

The reason is simple; while the English and Scotch have for centuries taken oatmeal in quantities and with a regularity that has made them the most rugged physically, and setting mentality of all peoples, the American has been eating oatmeal and trying all the time to improve the methods of preparation so that he might get that desirable foreign trade.

How well he has succeeded would be seen at a glance at the export reports of Quaker Oats. This brand is recognized as without a rival in cleanliness and delicious flavor. 51

President Taft on Discontent.

President Taft, in one of his addresses to the farmers of Florence, N. C., told a story about discontent.

"No man," he said, "can really understand chronic discontent after having eaten one of those hearty pine stews of North Carolina. Chronic discontent could not, however, exist, and then we find a case of two among farmers when the weather goes wrong.

"Ah, Jed, Lordy, how I have cause to complain, a lawyer said to a farmer. The harvest has been very bad, no doubt of that. But you should remember that Providence cares for all, and even the birds of the air are provided for.

"Yes, said the discontented farmer, so they are—off my potatoes."—Washington Post.
