

Chain Gang Story Feature of Week at Cawlow Theatre

Paul Nipke Spectacular Star, Phyllis Lyle, Joan Hennett Here Sunday

Important play production of any kind will be seen here...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

Lady Blanche Farm A Romance of the Commonplace By Frances Parkinson Keyes

CHAPTER I—Motoring through Hamstead, Philip Starr, young Boston architect, looked the acquaintance...

CHAPTER II—Mary receives Philip with true Vermont hospitality...

CHAPTER III—Violet Manning, mother of Blanche and of Paul, her sister Jane, spinster, are dull...

CHAPTER IV—Paul Manning, inclined to be disinclined not realizing his future relationship as husband...

CHAPTER V—Miss Hamlin, long a suitor for Mary's hand, having never been able to marry her...

CHAPTER VI—Philip, poring over old records of the Manning family...

CHAPTER VII—Mary, at first wretched of her position as a "blonde" woman...

CHAPTER VIII—MANKVILLE, Paul, instead of regarding in his long-forth...

"I'm right in the midst of packing," she announced, "I haven't much time to spare, I'm going back to New York on the midnight."

"I was me that broke the engagement," said Paul, stiffly and ungrammatically.

because they've got a couple too many drinks inside of them and are talking to some skirt they wouldn't introduce to their mother—I guess these old cabbages and judges and governors would think the good old stock had run down to a pretty poor line of goods!

"But Her's White Clean Through, for All That, Believe Me!"

through for all that, believe me! If he could have your chance, my I would have done with it!

And you've turned up your ugly nose at all of them—while he's had to climb out of the gutter on his way to decency without a soul to help him!

But he was mistaken. The next person to treat him harshly was Doctor Noble. Meeting the boy one day on the road, down which Paul was wandering somewhat aimlessly...

"Just the person I've been hoping to see," he remarked pleasantly, "I wanted to speak to you about your fiancée. I'm worried about her. I don't think she's looking at all well."

"Well, of course that must be a great disappointment to you, but perhaps it's all for the best. Of course your tastes wouldn't be particularly congenial. Mary has such a fine mind. . . . Well, I must pass along the good news to Thomas Gray the next time I see him, if he hasn't heard it already. I believe he thought, with considerable regret, that you had the right of way in that quarter."

"The war news isn't very good, is it?" went on David with an abrupt change of subject. "Ever thought of enlisting in the Foreign Legion?"

"If the doctor had asked him if he had ever thought of cutting off his right hand, Paul could not have answered more emphatically. The war was still raging in Hamstead, in spite of the sinking of the Lusitania, with impatience, when it was regarded at all."

"Farmers can't be spared," quoted Paul hurriedly, recalling statistics he had happened to read in some newspaper. "It takes five men in the field to keep one at the front. And I've got heart trouble. I've got on growing very red and writing more and more of David's pleasant voice."

"Hard luck! But are you sure? Been excited lately? Well, come up to the house some evening and let me look you over. Some evening soon. I'm going across now. So that's shortly, as a member of one of the Harvard medical units. We'll be connected with the British army. Jacqueline's going to take up some branch of Red Cross work—nursing, probably. It isn't as if we had any children," ended David with a wistfulness. "I'm sure Austin Gray would have done something long ago if it hadn't been for Sylvia. Naturally any man that's fortunate enough to get a family like that makes it his first consideration as long as he can. Well, I'll be home in a week."

Paul began to feel very sorry for himself. Public opinion, which he had at first thought to be wholly on his side, seemed to be gradually, but none the less surely, swinging the other way. If the

Continued on page 5

Going Up?

States Treasurer Earns $1,550,000 in Interest

State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett earned more than $1,550,000 in interest on state funds during his term, all of which was turned back to the treasury. This amount of interest was earned despite the fact that balances were lower and the interest rate was cut by the banks.

Four Supreme Court Justices Will Run for Re-election

Four of the five supreme court justices whose terms expire next year contemplate running for re-election, but Justice Warren W. Duncanson of Marion has told friends he will petition next summer. Justice Frank K. Dunn, Charleston, Chief Justice O-

Judicial Advisory Committee Offers Fifty Reform Bills

Fifty bills, which are urged by the Illinois judicial advisory commission, have been introduced in the current session of the general assembly by Senator James J. Barber, Chicago. They have to do with court reform and have the endorsement of the commission. Similar bills were considered at the last regular session.

Announcing THE NEW McILVAINE OIL BURNER

Will Save 25% on your fuel bill

V. H. SCHROEDER DAY AND NITE SERVICE Schroeder Hardware Co. Phone 38 Res. Phone 219-38

States Treasurer Earns $1,550,000 in Interest

State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett earned more than $1,550,000 in interest on state funds during his term, all of which was turned back to the treasury. This amount of interest was earned despite the fact that balances were lower and the interest rate was cut by the banks.

Four Supreme Court Justices Will Run for Re-election

Four of the five supreme court justices whose terms expire next year contemplate running for re-election, but Justice Warren W. Duncanson of Marion has told friends he will petition next summer. Justice Frank K. Dunn, Charleston, Chief Justice O-

Judicial Advisory Committee Offers Fifty Reform Bills

Fifty bills, which are urged by the Illinois judicial advisory commission, have been introduced in the current session of the general assembly by Senator James J. Barber, Chicago. They have to do with court reform

This lamp gives the NEW LIGHT everyone is talking about

It's a simple thing but what a difference it makes in your living room lighting! Hidden under the shade of this new lamp is a reflector that focuses indirect light up to the ceiling and diffuses it evenly over the whole room. It's the bright-but-soft, flattering kind of light you need for entertaining. Because there is no glare, not a single heavy shadow, it's especially fine for bridge games. And there is a separate switch that turns on direct light for reading.

Pictured right is the outstanding reflector lamp value we know of. Its three-candle base is beautifully finished in gold or in bronze. Its pleated silk Celanese shade comes in gold, tan, rose or green, edged in braid to match. See it today at your Public Service Store. Only $9.95

Also featured at your Public Service Store is an indirect floor lamp with a bronze base and pleated rayon shade in choice of green, rose, rust or gold. A remarkable bargain at only $6.65.

Another special—de luxe reflector lamp in either toned gold or bronze. The shade is silk crepe gold, tan, rose or green trimmed with metallic braid. $14.95 cash. $1 down "little by little".

Many other lamp specials featured this month PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

Several outstanding facts about this Company should be well understood: (1) It is purely an operating company and is not owned or controlled by any other company. (2) The majority of its stockholders live right here—it is "home owned." (3) All of its officers and employees live here. (4) Its future is irrevocably dependent upon the growth and prosperity of northern Illinois.

uring Easy . . . ONE Operation

Smoke Salt is a complete cure. Every ingredient necessary for a thorough cure and permanent relief is blended with the finest salt like ordinary table salt.

A Wonderful SAUSAGE SEASONING

Keep in touch with Billy at school has become a habit.

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...

They are now in the city...