to those rebelling against it, is unconscionable. It puts man to rout, consumes natural resources, destroys beauty, makes for uniformity, limits man's movements, ruins craftsmanship, produces for sale, robs man of work, breeds class conflict, degrades taste, encourages waste, makes bad citizens, wars on self-reliance, concentrates wealth, and concentrates its advantages.

emancipation that Western man has not mastered the wit to use wisely. The present depression has involved the entire world and has reached all lines of work. Our statement has not been good. There has been lack of balance between consumption and production. Machine economy must not be to the consuming millions have money with which to buy and leisure in which to enjoy the products the machine economy creates. The key to better business is a wider distribution of material wealth. If America does not realize a fair and more fruitful future, and that soon, it will be either because we suffer a breakdown of political and industrial leadership or because the people, in a moment of leaderless confusion, fanatically follow some false prophet.

Approximately seventy-five members and guests enjoyed the benefit party at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Edwin L. Reed. Mrs. Reed was assisted by the other members of the Scheraga League committee and the president. The attractive table prices were made by Mrs. Ruth Meade, a club member.

Announcement has been made of a series of meetings to be held at Independence Park, March 7, at 10 o'clock. An invitation has been received from the Irving Park Woman's Club to attend the International Relations Day program at the Irving Park Presbyterian church. The afternoon meeting will begin at 2 o'clock. Mr. Preston Bradley will speak on "Some European Impressions." Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be Clark M. Eiselberger. This subject will be "The Northrup League of Nations Economic Conference."

Nearly all field work necessary for the original sewer system was completed Tuesday night. J. J. Jaskie, engineer, began a job of consulting the data prepared reaching a conclusion for a recommendation to the board of the relative to use of the old system water over flow when the village ready to undertake the construction of a new system, and an sewer.

From the survey work completed, it is apparent that the original sewer line is in good condition. The engineer has made a final statement to the board of the relative to use of the old system water over flow when the village ready to undertake the construction of a new system, and an sewer.
