Miss Amelia Ost entered the hospital Monday for observation. Dr. John Schmidt and family have moved from the "Toopple" home to the Harry Tim house on North Brookway street which was recently vacated by Dr. A. C. Meyers who has moved to Helena, Mont. Robert Rimbald had an attack of inflammation last Saturday and is under the doctor's care.

Mr. and Mrs. Larson of Fort Atkinson, Wis. spent the week-end with their daughter Mrs. Elmer Heide and children.

The Name Moose
 The name moose is from an Algonk; an Indian word meaning "wood-eater"; but this is practically the same animal as that of the forest north of Europe, where it is called elk. The early colonists of Canada and New England were men ignorant of animals and gave many erroneous names to them. When a bit later than their discovery of the moose (the true elk), they discovered the big western deer whose antlers are not flat in part, but round and widely branched, they reported it under the name of elk. That name has stuck, but intelligent naturalists and sportsmen call it waiaki, another Indian name—a good distinction.

Campfire Girls

The Ozyokwa camp of camp fire girls elected its officers for the following year. They are as follows: President, Pauline Berger; vice president, Charlotte Ludwig; secretary, Ruth Draver; treasurer, Yvonne Dupuy.

At Christmas the camp fire girls sent scrap books and toys to the children at the County hospital. They received a letter from Winnie A. Cox, assistant director, Cook county school of nursing. The letter is quoted in part: "These things were all distributed in our children's hospital and you may be sure they brought much happiness and pleasure to the little recipients who otherwise would not have had much of a Christmas."

We were thankful we could help in a small way, and expect to do better next year.

The camp fire birthday project for this year is "Citizenship." The following broadcasts are especially prepared for the C.F.G.

Professor Harry A. Overstreet, author of "About Ourselves," and "We Move In New Directions," and many other books on psychology, will broadcast Tuesday, Mar. 5, 4 to 4:30 p. m. on woman's radio review. Subject is "Taking An Interest in the Community."

Flavel Shurtleff, city planning expert, will broadcast on Thursday, Mar. 14, 4 to 4:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) on woman's radio review, his subject will be "The City of the Future."

Camp fire girls and their parents are urged to listen in.
