Better Christmas Shopping Season Reported Locally

Holiday Ads in Review This Week: Special Edition Next Week

Local business men reported improved public morale and increased buying power and seasonal weather have been factors in encouraging earlier Christmas shopping than the stores have seen for several years. That this is the best holiday season for several years since 1921 is the general optimistic attitude of merchants.

The Christmas edition of the Review next week will carry many more advertisements than in previous years. The Review will be upped on a mail about ten days ago and a severe infection developed.
