Building Trades Class Putting Up Schwemm Garage

Having completed ninety projects during the school year, members of local building trades class are busy finishing their final endeavor for this season—a garage, now in the process of construction for Earl Schwemm. The garage is on a lot facing Liberty street.

There are 25 pupils studying building trades under the direction of C. Rosselle. To-date they have installed a plumbing system at the scout cabin, have constructed benches, tables, sliding, scales and window boxes for school use and have put up six bleachers for the gymnasium in addition to work in plastering, carpentry of other kinds, electrical projects and drafting.

A curbing along Hough street at the school is two-thirds done and preliminary work for a baby coach ramp at the corner of Lincoln and Hough streets is being done. They are now drafting plans for cottages, homes and two-story buildings.
