Miss Irene Lipofsky of Barrington is business manager of the Theatre Arts club, made up of professional dramatic art readers and teachers from the north shore and northwest suburbs, and is director of one of the plays which will be produced by the organization during the summer season.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. J. Manley Phelps; vice president, Mrs. Ross Van Polt; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Daniel Hawkins, all of Chicago; business manager, Miss Irene Lipofsky; publicity chairman, Mrs. J. E. Shawhan Jr. and Mrs. Dorothea Metzger, Norwood Park.

The club's program for the year was published in the Community Visitor, Chicago, last week which gave credit to the organization for some fine work in creating interest in a high type of entertainment.

Miss Lipofsky will direct the play "Joint Owners in Spain" by Alice Brown. The cast includes Mrs. J. E. Shawhan Jr., Marjorie Kramholz, Virginia Carson and Mrs. Ross Van Polt.

Other plays to be produced by the organization are "Fiesetta & Co.," "The Purple Doorknob" and "Square Pegs."

Chinese Used Big Rollers to Produce Their Sugar

While American pioneers were growing their grain in stone rollers a century or more ago, Chinese immigrants in Hawaii were producing sugar in the same manner.

Two rollers, believed to have been imported from South China more than 100 years ago, were found under the ruins of one of the territory's first sugar mills, near Honolulu, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

Two Prisons on Alcatraz Dungen Under Buildings

There are really two prisons on Alcatraz Island in San Francisco bay, notes a writer in the New York Times, for beneath the buildings are dungeons which are never penetrated by daylight or the sound of wind and waves.

Legend relates that these underground cells are remains of a prison built by the Spaniards shortly after De Ayala sailed through the Golden Gate on his voyage of discovery. But some military authorities assert that they are abandoned powder magazines.

"Plus Four"

The term "plus fours" has nothing to do with golf terminology, but originated from the Guard's regiment in England. The men in the rank and file of the regiment wore puttees and straight trousers which were pulled up to the top of the puttees, held in tightly and rolled so that the trouser draped down over the calf of the leg. The order from upper quarters was that the trousers must be "plus four" inches over the top of the puttee.

The officers, wishing to be more distinguished, had knickerbocker britches made to give the same effect with more flare, and were eventually dubbed "plus fours."
