Board Passes New Ordinance Against Soliciting Homes

Trustee Duescher Presents New Measure to Board Tuesday Night

Trustee John Duescher presented a new proposed ordinance to the village board Tuesday evening containing certain changes in the old ordinance as suggested at a previous meeting. The measure is intended to prohibit local residents wishing to be free from soliciting canvass, post signs warning against it.

The ordinance was passed following a motion by Trustee Duescher seconded by Trustee Duescher. The board took under advisement the type of warning signs, both metal and cardboard, which have been considered.

The old ordinance had been found unconstitutional because it was difficult to enforce. Similar ordinances passed in many other municipalities have resulted in troublesome litigation. Villages in Illinois have been given the power by statute to declare what shall constitute a nuisance, but it is difficult to suppress houses to house soliciting canvassers in Chicago. The ordinance was passed Tuesday night and will be presented for final action on property posted against it.

The discretionary power of residence property eliminates a localophile that made the old ordinance difficult to enforce. Hereafter eminent agents will be liable to arrest and prosecution with fines from $25 to $100 if soliciting in homes where there are voters warning against it.

The new ordinance is published on page 8 of this issue of The Review.

Sales Tax Tokens in New Form Are Now Being Used

Barrington shoppers had their first experience this week with the new sales tax tokens when they were put into use by merchants. They are to be used in payment of the three per cent sales tax on retail sale of merchandise. Over 15,000,000 of the shiny aluminum discs were sent out during the week-end by the state department of finance.

The new tokens are engraved with rounded corners and are made of aluminum. They are replacing the round ones first introduced but later withdrawn when the federal government objected.

Each token is worth one and one-half mills, sufficient to pay the tax on a five-cent purchase. The word mill, on previous tokens, has been eliminated to conform with federal regulations.

According to a schedule sent out with the tokens, sales up to four cents are tax free, while sales of five cents or over require a token for each additional four cents up to thirty cents.

Rates of from 31 to 33 cents require one penny tax, 34 to 38 cents one cent and one token; 39 to 43 cents, one cent plus two tokens; and so on up to sales of from 66 to 69 cents, when the tax will be two cents plus a token for each penny, until 97 cents a dollar is reached, when the tax will be three cents.

Whether there will be an universal use of the tokens throughout the state and Barrington is not known. Stores dealing in large sales do not contemplate using them.

King Over Radio
Miss Vera Cady and Miss Arlene Wente of Barrington sang on the "Happy 66" amateur program over WGN Friday evening. They were accompanied by Larry Turner, pianist for WGN. Miss Cady started her duties as teacher of piano at Riverside school, Des Plaines, Tuesday.
