

W. C. Fields Will Play at Catlow Sunday, Monday

'The Irish in Us' Featuring James Cagney Here for Three Days

'Naughty Marietta' is being screened at the Catlow theatre to night in response to the many requests for a return showing of this film.

Josephine MacDonald, Nelson Eddy and Frank Morgan have the leading roles in this capricious adventure of the French princess who joins a consignment of girls bound for the New Orleans marriage mart.

Friday night, 'Vaxahond Lady' comes to the Catlow, direct from the week's run at the Oriental.

It tells the story of a prodigious son returning from a world-cruise to spend the family apartment in the main aisle of his father's department store. It's tops in bright, farcical fun.

Picture fans will be happy to see Fred MacMurray and Madge Evans, both stars of outstanding merit, heading the large cast which will present 'Men Without Names,' the feature number of the Saturday program.

It is the tremendously exciting story of the efforts of one Glenn to stand up an underworld gang, and holds its own in interest along with any of the dramatic picture offered to date.

W. C. Fields can always be depended upon to provide entertainment which is true comedy. His eyes are the best, his situations the most hilarious, his performances the most varied of any of the screen comedians.

In 'Man on the Flying Trapeze,' coming Sunday at the Catlow, his comedy construction is just about perfect. There's no end to the cunningly-contrived build-up of things that get funnier as the picture goes on, gas that are priceless.

In his latest comedy he portrays the part of a submarine, blundering husband constantly beset by his wife and mother-in-law, in fact by everyone but his daughter who is the apple of his eye. His attempt to get to a wrestling match is only one of many such provoking dilemmas in which Fields finds himself.

Mary Brian, Kathleen Howard, Louise Lottfield are in the cast. Everyone who goes to the movies—and everyone does—knows that James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh and Allen Jenkins would make any picture interesting.

In the picture, 'The Irish in Us,' early autumn's leading production, which plays in the local theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, they rise to even new heights.

'The Irish in Us' is a comedy drama. Gordon, a 55 year old Irish widow whose leap from a job as restaurant cook to near stardom in Hollywood is in itself a romance, portrays the part of an Irish mother whose three sons are Pat O'Brien, a cop; Frank McHugh, a fireman, and James Cagney, who refuses to take a steady job, but devotes himself to managing broken down prize fighters.

The woman's approaching and putting contest Labor Day morning ended with Miss Pauline Sapp carrying off the honors. Masculine members of the club enjoyed a "give and take" fun day with each member contributing and receiving a prize.

Barrington Hills

Last Country Club Party Barrington Hills club house was a gay and interesting place Saturday night when the last party of the summer season was given with members contributing to the program. Dinner was served between 8 and 10 o'clock. The program was presented from the west deck of the pool. H. C. Chesney serving as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Samuel Rows and Mrs. Warren McCracken gave some charming songs. Miss Betty Chesney did some clever tap dancing. Mrs. Barbara Keel and Miss Keene Hughes contributed dramatic numbers, both monologues, excellently at the club.

Mrs. Lawrence Hallberg gave a concert picture of gardens around the club for 20 guests.

Among those entertaining at the club were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Chesney who entertained a party of young people for their two young daughters Sally and Betty. The guests of honor were Mrs. R. C. Condon and daughter Virginia of St. Louis.

Mrs. Virginia Condon is on her way to New York to play a dancing part in 'The Beloved Rogue' which opens in September at Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. John Macaulay gave a cocktail party for their guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill of Dundee, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Boymer had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairweather and were among those at Mrs. Macaulay's who later joined the Country Club dinner.

Mrs. H. S. Hart had a party of 12 young people with Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hartmeyer as guests of honor. The Hartmeyers left for their home in Cleveland Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Reichman entertained for Mrs. Ruth Hammond of Glendale, Calif., and William Reichman had a party of young friends from the North Shore.

Col. and Mrs. Roberts entertained friends also, as did Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zuckow and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rowe.

23 and will establish a home in Florida. It is a real loss to the community to have such people as the Macaulays go, and their friends are saying their goodbyes in many social festivities.
