WHAT'S GOING ON WASHINGTON

Turning thumbs down on extending "concessions" abroad the state department advises a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company to abandon an oil concession. Another proof that also: March 4, 1933, dollar diplomacy was threatened. The company, having voluntarily complied the government, thought the adjustment mechanism to have been a serious embarrassment to the efforts of those nations which seek to preserve peace between Ethiopia and Italy. Extinguished at the same time is a possible interest of the United States in protecting a property interest of its citizens in a country threatened with the changing of its legal system.

How do plans for transferring to relief jobs the 3,500,000 employables, announced by the president as his objective when he assumed the presidency, shall he shall quell this business of relief? Relief Administrator Hopkins thus reports: Half of the four billion dollar work relief fund is scheduled to go for quick local jobs; it will employ 2,500,000 persons. Money already released by the treasury is now employing 548,110 persons in this type of work. The CCC camps are employing 819,122 federal workers. Other federal agencies are using 70,331 persons in jobs on a local character. Large-scale projects administered by the public works administration will account for only 250 million dollars of expenditure instead of the 900 million originally planned.

Last word rests with Uncle Sam on the "propanas" controversy. Orders said to have been given by the Communist International at Moscow that American members of the international organization should bore within the radius of labor to bring about a dictatorship of the working class. The American state department, holding this to be a violation of Russia's pledge given when diplomatic relations were resumed in 1933, had directed to Moscow a strong protest, which the Soviet government had "refused to accept."

The state department's "last word": Russia's clean-cut denial of her pledge, if persisted in, can not but seriously impair the friendship between the two countries. Meanwhile the Foreign Service Building commission considers disposal of the "propanas" controversy. N. Illinois League Holds Shoot Amid Rain at Biltmore

Elgin Captures Team Event; W. Wintearingham Leads Individuals Sunday

Rainy weather had its effect in keeping scores down as the Northern Illinois trapshooting league held its last registered shoot of the season at Biltmore last Sunday. Elgin proved the best "competer" of the nine teams competing and won the team event. Walter Wintearingham of Barrington won the individual 100 yard event and also captured the high-over-all. In the latter event he received the state trophy awarded at each regular league shoot by the Illinois Trapshooting Association. The handicap event was closely contested, ending in a three-way tie for first and a four-way tie for second place. A post-season shoot will be held at Elgin in the near future, date to be announced later.

The Aleutian Islands

The islands off Alaska are called the Aleutian Islands because the natives, who lived like Eskimos and looked like Aleutians, were called Aleuts. When first discovered there were 25,000 of them. Now but a few thousand remain.

Federal Housing Administration and the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Uncle Sam is banker reports, through the United States Treasury, the following statement of condition: Total loans placed, representing advance to business, farm groups, banks and home owners—$1,477 million dollars, up 1,503 million dollars from a year ago. Of the total sum, 4,508 million dollars are direct loans of federal funds. The balance consists of private loans lent under government guarantee. These include mortgage loans insured under the "New Deal" program. From Mr. Wallace: The farmers of the south and west believe in the adjustment program; should the adjustment mechanism, the processing tax, be outlawed, they will make a drive on the protective tariff or seek to change the constitution. From Col. Knox: A farm program based on scarcity is repugnant to farmers, who should receive "parity prices" protected by an export subsidy for removing surplus production.
