stitute and is open to every person residing in Lake county. Cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded to successful entrants in six divisions of exhibits. In each division awards are made for various types of exhibits.

All exhibits must be entered by 11 a. m. Friday, Oct. 11 to be eligible for prizes. Exhibits may be brought in any time after 4 p. m. Thursday. During the programs, scheduled in the auditorium on both days, exhibit rooms will be closed to visitors. No premiums will be awarded by judges when none of the articles are considered worthy. All articles in the household science department must be strictly "home made."

Farm exhibits have been divided into farm products, such as grains, vegetables, hay, fruit, poultry, pigeons, rabbits and waterfowl. The exhibition of articles other than listed above will be appreciated by those in charge. Culinary exhibits, Mrs. C. S. Sniager, chairman, is divided into exhibits on breads, cookies, cakes and pies. Domestic art, Mrs. G. Grains, chairman, has quilts, spreads, rugs, novelties and mending exhibits.

Franjy stores, Mrs. Harold Hanson, chairman, is a county canning contest and is open to all women and girls in the county. Each entry shall consist of a pair of jars, one quart of fruit and one of vegetables. The entries must have been canned prior to September 1, 1934. Each jar must be labeled on the bottom with the name of exhibitor, address and county. The pair of jars winning first place at the county will be eligible for entry at the annual state fair.

Flower exhibits, Mrs. G. Grains, chairman, are divided into canned meats, vegetables, fruit and other miscellaneous varieties in nature of pickle, relish, jam, preserves and jelly. Displays in the flower exhibit are open to every variety and arrangement. Cut flowers, flower arrangements, floral arrangements, table centerpieces, house plants, shadow boxes and miniature bouquets.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of the house dresses exhibits, Mrs. J. L. Clements, chairman. These entries are to be cotton home-sewed garments. An interesting feature is to be the exhibits display, Mrs. Paul Alanson, chairman. For persons owning anything of unusual nature or character. Anyone having a hobby is urged to display his work with any information that he may have concerning the exhibit. No prizes are offered for this feature but the many unusual angles should make it very popular.

Additional information on exhibits may be obtained from any of the acting officials or from J. L. Clements, principal of Elia township high school. A complete program of entertainment will be published in the next issue of the Review.

The Auditorium, Chicago's beloved music center almost a half-century, reopens to grand opera October 14, when the San Carlo Opera company begins a three-week season with a gala performance of Aida.

Featuring Bianca Sarya, Arnold Lindl, Moslyn Thomas and Cyrena Van Gordon, the latter guest artist from the Metropolitan, Aida will be a benefit for the Illinois Masonic Hospital association's fund for indigent sick Masons and their families, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary.

Seize went on sale October 1 for all performances. The remainder of the opening week is arranged to introduce the full strength of Fortuna Gallo's great company in some of its most effective works.

Hilf Korke, diminutive Japanese prima donna, is featured Tuesday night, Oct. 15, in Madame Butterfly.

Goeta Ljungberg, famed Swedish dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan, is a guest artist with the San Carlo company and will be heard first in Lohengrin October 16, singing Elsa opposite Dimitri Onofrei in the title role. October 17 brings Dreda, Aves in the title role of Carmen and introduces a new soprano, Joseph Chokova, as Micaela, with Lindl and Thomas in their support.

Lucille Meusel, Green Bay coloratura, who created a sensation with the company at the Auditorium last spring, returns to sing Diana in Rigoletto Friday night, Oct. 18. Joseph Chokova, sings Marguerite, one of her best roles, in Faust Saturday afternoon, which introduces Harold Kravitz as Mephistopheles, long one of his outstanding roles in the San Carlo tours. Bianca Sarya and Arnold Lindl are featured in Il Trovatore Saturday night, Oct. 19.

The San Carlo ballet, which has been in practically all these presentations, Carlo Peroni continues as conductor-in-chief. Reservations for seats may be made locally through Mrs. Walter Sears of Barrington.—Adv.

Supreme Court to Hear Appeal on County Clerk Suit

The battle for the county clerk's office in Lake county continues in the law courts with Lew Hendes holding the chair and Russ Alford seeking to out him by a writ of mandamus. Hendes filed a petition last week asking the state supreme court to review the matter.

History of the case goes back to the last county election, November 6, 1934. At that time the election board issued a certificate of election to Hendes, who held office. Alford contended that election judges had returned tabulations in Deerfield and Avon township giving him a majority. When the ballots were certified by the election board Hendes was declared winner in both townships.

A writ of mandamus was issued by the circuit court declaring that Alford had been elected. Hendes then appealed to the appellate court where the decision of the lower court was upheld. He is now asking the supreme court to dissolve the writ. Regardless of the decision returned by the supreme court a recount will probably be asked as both the republican and

"China Seas" Is Rated Feature at Catlow This Week

"Every Night At Eight" With Sparkling Cast Billed Sunday-Monday

This week's current feature at the Catlow theatre offers a wealth of entertainment, unusual variety of plots and locales and a group of stars topping the galaxy of Hollywood players.

"China Seas," rated as the greatest of early autumn's pictures is scheduled for a three-day run beginning Wednesday night. It was first headed by Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery, with Lewis Stone, C. Aubrey Smith and other well-known players.

The plot deals with the love, hate, hate and dangerous intrigue and is played against a background of tropical hurricanes and gale-rattled storms. Walter Connolly and all but disabed by pirate capture her and torture Gable, her skipper.

In the thrilling thrills only two men with the Mephistopheles drama worked out between Gable and Harlow, "scouring" man, Alvin Harlow, frank love of Harlow's soul, who is not ashamed to show her love for Gable and Beery, bluff trader who also wants Miss Harlow's affection.

Parts of the radio and the movie will find "Every Night at Eight" Sunday-Monday feature, the brightest plot and most original romance seen in one production for some time.

It's home is radio's amateur hour and with George Raft, Alice Faye, Francis Langford, Patry Kelly, Three Radio Ringers, Walter Catlett and Florence Roberts in the cast.

Stellar Maria and Herbert Mark shall will be welcomed Friday night in "Accent on Youth." It tells the story of a playwright who wrote a love scene for his rival, who then meets a rivaling down the curtain on his own romance.

"Welcome Home," the Saturday night offering, will be found to be a romantic comedy of a boy who brings his high-dignity pals to his home town, intent on "taking" the local citizens. James Dunn and Arline Judge are cast in the roles.

"Murder Man," coming Tuesday, tells of the exploits of a New York star reporter, who assists the police in solving a mysterious crime, only to find himself in serious trouble for knowing too much.

Not till the very end will the answers be guessed in this crime yarn.
