

"Bright Lights" Stars Joe Brown Sunday-Monday

"Page Miss Glory" Opens With Marion Davies Tuesday Evening

Gracie Allen, playing hostess to all the down and out actors on Broadway, and driving her father's secretary to a state bordering on madness, furnishes the light and speedy subject matter for "Here Comes Cookie," the Friday feature number at the Catlow.

The running fire of banities are in typical Burns and Allen style, but new cases and novel plot situations make this pin-wheel of mirth revolve with explosions of laughter.

Scatter David Lee Holt is the key character in "The Age of Indiscretion," which will hold the feature spot Saturday night.

Around him gather the angry storm-clouds of blackmail, reformation, scandal and shame, as his parents secure divorce and battle for his custody. It all revolves on a happy note, as only the masterful playing of Paul Lukas, Max Robson, Midge Evans and Helen Vinson could resolve it.

"Bright Lights," scheduled for Sunday and Monday, is a circus of sentimental, scandal and shame, as his parents secure divorce and battle for his custody. It all revolves on a happy note, as only the masterful playing of Paul Lukas, Max Robson, Midge Evans and Helen Vinson could resolve it.

"Page Miss Glory" begins its three-day run Tuesday.

Marion Davies newest production, "Page Miss Glory," begins its three-day run Tuesday.

MelLux, learning that an advertiser is offering a big cash reward for a photograph of America's prettiest girl, makes a composite picture, blending the features of famous stage and society beauties and submits it under the name of "Dawn Glory."

He wins the prize and trouble starts. A "Dawn Glory" craze sweeps the country and even Miss Davies falls for it with startling results.

"Page Miss Glory," with its unusual cast, magnificent settings and fascinating plot, is thoroughly delightful.
