

Music Lovers Hail Schubert Picture on Program Nov. 16

Plan Matinee Showing of "The Unfinished Symphony" at Local Theatre

The management of the local theatre will present a benefit showing of "The Unfinished Symphony" at 3:00 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 16. Schubert's own music forms the warp of this production; the rest is supplied from romantic episodes of his life, the whole resolving into a tapestry of tonal beauties and biographical interest.

Hans Jary plays the role of Schubert, with Helen Chandler and Maria Eggerth in the leading female parts.

Musical sequences are supplied by the notable Vienna Philharmonic orchestra; the Wiener Sängerknaben, Vienna State Opera chorus and the Gypsy Band of Gyulafarvarh.

The feature will be preceded by the showing of that gem of all cartoons, "The Three Little Pigs." Not preceding the matinee performance will be in aid of the Victoria hospital at Castries on the little island of St. Lucia. C. J. Catlow, who spent his winter on this island, has had opportunity in past seasons to familiarize himself with the creditable work being done by the entire personnel.

The control of typhus and malaria, checking water supply, eradication of the Anopheles (genus of mosquito), and teaching the natives, especially young mothers, the principles of asepsis, are carried forward in the face of limited equipment.

Heading the list of sponsors for the benefit performance are Lewis Bernays, British Consul General of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cardwell, and the president and members of the executive committee of the Barrington Woman's club.

Fred Fleming Reviews "Island of Penguins" at Bird Club Tuesday

Halloween decorations, jack o' lanterns, black cats, cornstalks greeted members and guests of the Bird club at the home of Mrs. Earl Virden who with Mrs. Charles Stults served as hostesses to the group Tuesday evening.

Birds reported in migration were the horned larks, wild geese, junco, bluebirds, and white-throated sparrows.

The Lincoln sparrow, a bird very rarely identified, was sighted by Mrs. Robert Work.

Cormorants, birds with which very few people are familiar, were seen at Lake Zurich by several members.

Fred Fleming gave an illuminating review of Cherry Kearton's book, "The Island of Penguins."

Located on the southwest coast of Africa, the island is the nesting place for 5,000,000 birds, three-fourths of which are penguins.

Covering a space of four square miles, the island presents to the author the eighth wonder of the world. With his wife, Mr. Kearton spent much time in a pitched tent.

enabling him to obtain first hand information of the life and habits of this queer species. Even penguins possessed individualities. There were the proud, the meek, the bully, the alderman.

The penguin, who swims as well as a shark, usually lives far out at sea. It is known that distances of a thousand miles have been covered. Sardines serve as the main food. It is interesting to note the protective agencies which nature has provided for penguins as soon as they enter the water. A transparent film covers their eyes, and an oil exuding from the ear protects that organ.

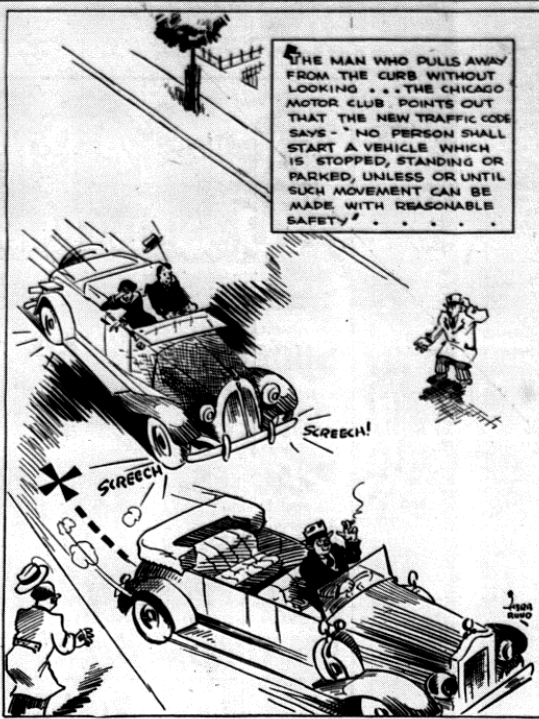

The octopus and shark are the greatest enemies of the large penguin. The fish and sea gull devour the young penguins as well as the eggs.

Twice a year—in February and September—the penguins come to this island, which serves as the birthplace of most of the species. These birds will even return to the same nest which they occupied the previous year. Here one or two, very rarely more, eggs are laid. Both parents assume the responsibility of sitting on the nest. At birth the penguin resembles a teddy bear. Parental devotion is strong. Not until the young are three months of age do the parents cease their care.

To the author the penguins represent very human characteristics. Their courting, mating, building of homes, care of the young, meeting of difficulties, their patience, tenacity, and endurance—all these find a counterpart in the lives of human beings.

In his forty years of nature study Mr. Kearton has found no birds more interesting than the penguins.

Civil Service Bureau Announces Competitive Examinations for Clerks

The United States Civil Service commission has announced an open competitive examination for railway postal clerk.

Applicants may be filed with the civil-service district office nearest the applicant, or with the U. S. Civil Service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications must be on file not later than October 28, 1935.

Applicants must have reached their eighteenth but not their thirty-fifth birthday on the date of the close of receipt of applications, except that those age limits do not apply to persons granted military preference. Applicants must measure at least 5 feet 6 inches in height in bare feet, and must weigh at least 130 pounds without clothing. They must be in sound physical health and capable of enduring arduous exertion. Persons interested should apply at once for information to Joseph D. Robertson, Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

Creation Old Custom

Creation of the dead was a general practice of the ancient world with some exceptions. During the Middle Ages, cremation was discouraged and in its modern form dates from the latter part of the nineteenth century.

A Holding Company

A government official defined the holding company as follows: "The holding company may be defined as any company which, by virtue of its ownership of securities, is in a position to control or substantially influence the management of one or more other companies; that is, a holding company is different from a mere investment company. An investment company buys securities as an investor would do and without any purpose of determining the policy of the management. But when a company by virtue of its ownership of securities is in a position to control or substantially influence the management of another company it is properly classified as a holding company."

Earliest Game Law

Previous to the Norman Conquest, there were no restrictions on the hunting of game in England, except a general law prohibiting hunting on Sunday. So far as is known, this was the earliest game law.

Where Motors Are Banned

Bermuda is the only place where automobiles are banned. The islands keep much of their seventeenth century charm because of the virtual absence of such vehicles. The longest road is less than a stone's throw from the sea, and all of the roads are narrow and winding, so that motors would be unsafe, to say nothing of marring the peace and quiet.

Broncho Local High School Has Never Beaten Wildcats on Grounds

Wildcats Favored But Broncho Look for Upset; Loose to Steinmetz Saturday

Can they do it? A Barrington high school team has never defeated a local team in years of future off-ball. This opportunity, furnished after times by former B.B. Johnson, will be offered in a present edition of the Barrington broncho when they meet the Wildcats of Libertyville in the annual game on the Libertyville grounds, Friday afternoon.

Barrington teams have been close to tripping and at times have even outplayed their northern rivals, but never have they won or even tied a game.

Some Close Ones

Notable of the close battles was the one in '27, the days of Wilman, Walbaum, DePlosh, Hayden and company. Libertyville won 7 to 0 although the team outplayed them most of the way.

Another thriller was in '28 when the Wildcats won by a narrow margin of 10 to 11. The rest of the game was decided wider margins.

Friday's contest should develop into a tight affair as the Broncho has the best team in several years while the Wildcats have averaged eleven. Comparatively scores show that Leyden beat Libertyville 8 to 7, and Barrington 6 to 0, a difference of four points. The Wildcats beat Lake Forest 12 to 9, the Broncho lost to Forest Park 14 to 12.

Libertyville has a big star team headed by Del Janga speedy back, Isaacson and Menden, master ends, and Langford tackle. Coach Jack Martin's team has lost only one game the season—the one to Leyden.

The Broncho will depend on Dorringer, Grabenhorst, backs; Hager and J. Mountain, linemen to lead the fight against the Wildcats.
