YOU SAID SOMETHING, SPARTA! A home-town newspaper always stands for the good things in any community. No worthwhile movement succeeds without the newspaper's support.

EDITORIAL SHORTS Is there anything more disgusting to hear than the fellow without any real complaint eternally howling? But how refreshing, when you hear the person you think has every reason to be downhearted always presenting the brightest side of life.

Seventy-one per cent of a selected group of the largest general automotive newspaper advertisers will increase advertising appropriations in 1936 over 1935.

Pipe smokers are said to have better dispositions than other men. Perhaps it seems that way because a man with a pipe in his mouth finds it difficult to argue himself into a fighting frame of mind.

Don't complain about keeping up poor kin. Think of Uncle Sam.

We recently found a man who admitted he's not trying to leave footprints on the sands of time, being more interested in covering up a lot of those already made.

Assisting a criminal to escape the law is a crime, unless you happen to be a lawyer.

Under the Wagner bill the employer still would be permitted to watch the wheels go round.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON (Courtesy The United States News)

To its supreme crisis comes the farm control program, itself the fruit of nearly 20 years of political struggle in the counsel of the nation.

The first is the agricultural adjustment act, which imposes a tax on proceeds of farm products and permits the payment of benefits to those farmers who cooperate in adjusting production with demand.

The other is the Bankhead act, which taxes production in excess of allotments fixed by the government.

The department of justice sets forth grounds to show that congress may either to restore farm-city balance and stabilize rural industry. To square the production with language of the constitution, the department argues that the tax is imposed uniformly and on proceeds to be used to promote the general welfare.

Opponents counter that the tax in purpose is a regulation, and a form of regulation denied to congress by the constitution.

Of what value is a cease and desist order against "unfair labor practices" issued by the National Labor Relations board?

The first one is put to the test as the board, having told the Greyhound Lines, Inc., to desist from such practices, asks the circuit court of appeals at Philadelphia to enforce the order.

Put thereby to the test also is the National Labor Relations act itself, which forbids employer support of company unions and writes majority rule into the choice of collective bargaining agencies.

Meanwhile, the board reports that, of 358 cases coming before it, 86 are settled by agreement.

A battle of maneuvers opens its outcome to decide how the Public Utility act is to be tested in the courts.

On one side, utility companies have entered some 60 suits to enjoin the Securities and Exchange commission from enforcing the act which requires registration of all interstate utility companies and restricts their modes of operation and the nature of their financing.

On the other side, the SEC has brought one suit, seeking a court order to compel the Electric Bond and Share corporation to comply with the act.
